Video Dance Instruction

The instruction is a video. There is no other presentation in this module. There are supplemental materials that lend to education of Irish Dance history and create the foundation in which to learn, research, and present.

Timing

The Instructional video is about eighteen (18) minutes long. Most students will need additional time to practice the dance. We recommend setting aside at least 30 – 40 minutes for module and up to a maximum of 60 minutes to include activity directions and time to start working on projects, if desired. Optional projects, homework, and presentations will take additional time.

Supplemental Material

Some activities need additional information in which to complete. The supplemental material includes information not included in the video in order to enhance the educational experience.

Student Handouts

Some activities have a corresponding handout to give students as part of the activity.

Technology Needs

For best effect, the instructional video needs to be displayed in large form at the front of the room or other space used for learning the dance steps. We suggest using a computer attached to a projector and expanding the video to full screen.
