Hue.

At a second meeting with Major Do Viet, after a review of the requirements that THVN must supply, he requested a delay of "several days". The request was prompted by events here in Saigon while he was absent in Tokyo, plus the current taping of election candidates.

I agreed on a delay if we could settle on a definite date. The date is Tuesday, August 22nd, 1967. Preparations for the opening had advanced in several areas, but there must be at least a 90% chance of a perfect performance.

As this building is only temporary, there will be no ceremonies. The occasion will be marked with a short speech, taped, by one of the VIPs. (Note: This is as of August 8th, 1967)
