Drawing Room

For designer Joshua Cain, perhaps the greatest challenge he faced was the Drawing Room's size.

"We worked with what we had," Cain recalls. "To preserve the space's historic nature, we kept the windows and walls as they are, using their colors and tones to inspire the light, bright citrus color palette."

Furniture styles include Mexican Chippendale, French and Italian Renaissance, Italian Provincial, Moroccan, Louis XVI, Regency, William & Mary and Jacobean. Yet while the furniture is traditional, the fabrics are hip, trendy and very liveable.

To pay tribute to the estate's current owners, the designers searched the country for vintage Red Cross memorabilia to incorporate into the space. Can you find them?
