Most Saddlebred, Open, and Equitation classes count towards high point award. Classes that do NOT count toward high point awards include but are not limited to: Novice, Maiden, Limit, Ladies, Junior Horse, Divisions by sex of horse, and/or Divisions by height of horse. Also classes that do NOT count are classes that restrict previous winners which include but are not limited to: UPHA Challenge Cup (except 10 & Under Walk & Trot), Saddle & Bridle's ASB Shatner Western Pleasure Class (except Hunt Seat Classic), Saddle & Bridle's Pleasure Equitation Medallion, USEF Medal classes, etc.

CASHA reserves the right to amend point tabulation based on the number of entries in a class during the entire show season.

Note: Points count towards the division you qualify in for Championship points. If you qualify in two categories in a division, Championship points are counted according to the rider's age. If you qualify in both the Amateur and Open category in a division, Championship points are counted according to rider's amateur status. Points are credited towards the juvenile category if the horse shown has a juvenile handler AND THERE IS NO JUVENILE CLASS IN THAT DIVISION (i.e. juvenile rider shows in the show pleasure driving open class or championship class and there is no show pleasure driving junior exhibitor class). If there is a juvenile class in a particular division and the juvenile handler elects to show in amateur as well, then points will count towards the juvenile category for the juvenile class and count towards the amateur category for the amateur class. The same rule applies to open classes. Championship points will count towards the juvenile category for juvenile handlers only if no juvenile championship is offered.
