

ROCKFORD NEWS

October, 2015

Over the last few years the town hall has gotten a bit rundown. It was getting tired and worn out, but now it looks clean and alive! I can't say thank you enough to the volunteers who have gotten our "house" cleaned and painted! It's a much nicer place to go to now.

Special thanks to Dave Thompson and Patrick Marcalus! When a few people take pride in the community we can accomplish much! The town hall is just a start. Your town council is making every effort to get the town looking and running beautifully. This will start with the infrastructure but also work on the aesthetics. It's all about having a great looking park, while also providing safe, reliable drinking water.

Mayor Carrie Roecks obtained her Certified Municipal Leader certification this summer. This is a designation given by the Association of Washington Cities for completing 30 hours of instruction and training in various aspects of public service. Carrie joins councilmember Micki Harnois, who holds an ADVANCED Certified Municipal Leader designation.

Thank you to all that donated to help the fire victims of Kamiah Idaho. A check was sent for $705.00 !!!

Please remember that dumpsters and garbage cans in Rockford are not for public use. They are paid for by individual property owners

How great was the 71st annual SE Spokane County Fair?! So much going on and the weather was just beautiful. It takes more volunteers than you can imagine to put on an event like that one. In case you didn't know – the fair only allows nonprofit groups to have food booths at the fair. That way, there isn't competition with commercial vendors, and the money raised stays in our own community. .

How about another town "event" sometime during the year? Do you have some ideas? Watch for notices for a meeting to discuss these ideas.
