She was a caring daughter, loving wife, cherished step-mother, and dear friend. Born on November 4, 1947, Darlene was the only child of the late Joe and Martha (Byarski) Lerash. She shared many good memories of growing up in Hamtramck, MI and later moving to Bad Axe, MI. Darlene shared a close bond with her cousin, Diane Bodner, who was more like a sister to her than a cousin. Darlene's sense of humor was unmatched. She had an uncanny ability to find joy and humor in every situation, and her infectious laughter was a testament to her free-spirited nature. Her quick wit and playful banter lifted the spirits of those around her, brightening even the gloomiest of days. While Darlene's life was marked by her humor and wit, she also dedicated herself to her work. She was employed at Seatbelt and later retired from Courtney Manor.
