SERIAL Automation LLC
Programming and Consulting Services

BUSINESS PROFILE:

SERIAL Automation is here to work with AV Integrators. We have extensive knowledge in designing, programming, and managing small and large scale projects in both the residential and commercial industries.

In today's economy it is hard for any AV Integrator to keep a fully qualified staff of professionals that can provide all the services required to complete an automation project. We can help the AV Integrator fill in the gaps that they may find themselves in today.

All of our Professional Services are designed around the premise of Synergy. Synergy is defined as the idea that the value and performance of two companies combined will be greater than the sum of the separate individual parts. With this in mind the AV Integrator can offer a larger skill set when it comes to the implementation of an automation system.
