

The Five Codes Lesson

“Honor Friendship”

What does it mean?

Valuing the people in your life. Treating them with respect and kindness.

Not take them for granted.

Example:

Your best friend who is always there for you needs your help with a project. They ask for your assistance and even though you are busy with your own life, you make time to be there for them.

Your friend needs you to listen to them as they are going through a tough time. You take the time even though it may not be convenient.

Homework:

Share your example of how you demonstrated or witnessed honoring friendship. Write it down, draw a picture or tell us a story!
