WHAT TO EXPECT IF INVOLVED IN A PRIVATE PROPERTY ACCIDENT

In last month's article we reviewed police response to injury accidents and what you should expect should you be involved. As these are typically more serious events that often require investigators with advanced training, your priorities are notifying 911 immediately, assisting officers/detectives and being patient during the lengthy investigation. With minor traffic accidents you have more options depending on the accident location and vehicle damage value. Minor traffic accidents on private property have the ability to add an additional layer of uncertainty as, in some cases, police officers are not needed.

Private property accidents basically include collisions occurring in parking lots and driveways outside the trafficway. Accidents which occur in parking lots do not regularly require police contact. In fact, in many cases, police do not respond unless serious injury or death, impairment of any kind or significant damage to vehicles or property is present. Most of these cases are investigated by insurance companies. If the incident is minor and does not involve one of the above exceptions, drivers should merely exchange information. If you are ever uncertain how to proceed, you can always call the police, and with the help of our dispatcher's we will determine if police response is necessary.

One common, private property accident occurs when vehicles back into each other. In most cases this is a minor collision with minor damage and typically does not require police assistance. Both parties are required to exchange information which includes: name, address and vehicle registration number. It's also a good idea to take photographs of both vehicles, any property damaged and the general area the private property accident occurred. In the event one of the vehicles is parked and unattended, your requirements do not change, you are still required to leave your information in a conspicuous location.

For those of you curious of the laws governing information exchange, check out these related Arizona Revised Statutes:

28-663. Duty to give information and assistance
28-664. Duty on striking unattended vehicle

Finish up any business on your phone, double check your blind spots and be mindful of your surroundings before you commit to backing out of your parking space. A few preventative steps may save the stress of an unwanted private property collision. If you have any questions or concerns, I'm here to help.

WHEN YOU CALL 911 - KNOW THE 10 W'S

"Call if you can. Text if you can't." was the key message rolled out during a press conference on April 2nd as text to 9-1-1 service capability becomes available for the first time in the greater Phoenix region. If you are in imminent danger and unable to talk to a 9-1-1 operator, you now have the ability to text to 9-1-1. The service goes live following months of collaboration between numerous public agencies and advocates for the disability community.

CITYWIDE PHOENIX NEIGHBORHOOD PATROL

Detective Brian Kornegay

GET YOUR PNP and ADMIN HOURS IN NOW!!!
REPORT ALL OF YOUR VOLUNTEER TIME!!!

Reporting your PNP hours (Logs)

Although many of you have been catching up your 2018 logs since my last reminder, our numbers are still down from what we normally have. Please double check you have all your hours entered. Don't worry that they are late, they still count. Please try to have this done in the next couple weeks. Thanks!

On Line Reporting for PNP at volunteer@phoenix.gov

Since PNP went live with volunteer.phoenix.gov in August 2016, we have hoped to reduce duplication of effort and paper logs/worksheets. These new improvements continue this effort with the following changes. We hope to have videos up soon for the recent changes to online reporting.

Mileage Reimbursement (2019 rate has increased to $.58 per mile)

PNP members who have a NBW Grant in their neighborhood that has funds for PNP patrol fuel reimbursement, please record miles and reimbursement documents online. The log sheet has been updated for this. PNP members recording their time for fuel reimbursement this way must enter the beginning and ending odometer readings and license plate number of the vehicle used on their logs.

When you are ready to do a reimbursement simply email Brian.kornegay@phoenix.gov the PNP members name and the time frame you are requesting to reimburse and he will email back a report. This report will be signed as becomes your "receipt" for the grant quarterly report. The report double checks the math and calculates the reimbursement total. If this methods work well it will likely be the required method for the grants awarded in July 2018.

PVSA Participants logging hours

In the past PNP members who also participate in the Presidential Service Award (PVSA) program had to do separate entries for PNP and PVSA. This was a duplication of effort. We have an updated combination log for PNP and PVSA. Detailed instructions went out to the PNP members who are also in PVSA.

PNP Merchandise Price Increase for 2019

Our suppliers have gotten back to me with their 2019 prices. The 2019 order forms will be on the web soon. Neither of our main suppliers have raised their prices in at least 2 years and unfortunately a few of the prices have gone up for this upcoming year. The new prices take place January 1, 2019. If you place an order before the end of the year please email a copy of the order form to brian.kornegay@phoenix.gov no later than December 31, 2018, so your order is processed before the increase even if the "check is in the mail".

Save the Date

The PNP 25th Anniversary Annual Event (aka PNP picnic or PNP luncheon) is scheduled for April 13, 2019. We have secured a location, CCV North Phoenix, 15025 N 19 Ave (the former location of North Hills Church). This is by invitation only for volunteers who have reported 50 or more hours.

ACCELERATED PAVEMENT MAINTENANCE PROGRAM

Between January 2019 and June 2023, the Street Transportation Department will undertake its largest and most comprehensive pavement maintenance program; which entails accelerating pavement maintenance work on many of the city's major streets. During this period, more than 250 major-street miles will be repaved as part of the accelerated pavement maintenance program. This represents a 300 percent increase compared to the number of major-street miles the city traditionally paves each year.

The accelerated program will significantly improve the condition of city streets and will be accomplished in conjunction with the city's pavement preservation program for local and collector streets. The acceleration of the city's pavement maintenance program represents a key priority for the Phoenix City Council. For more information, visit the Accelerated Pavement Maintenance Program webpage at www.phoenix.gov/PavementProgram Program Contact Information - Phone: 602-262-6284; Email: pavement@phoenix.gov.

Which city streets do you want to see included in the Street Transportation Department's pavement maintenance work plans for fiscal years 2021-2023? Use the interactive street maintenance map to share your input or email comments to pavement@phoenix.gov To access the map visit www.phoenix.gov/PavementProgram Please submit your comments by the end of March.

From the Desk of Bill Montgomery-

I'd like to highlight a couple of members of our staff who do extraordinary work and the new programs they are spearheading for this Office. April Sponsel, with our Community Based Prosecution West Bureau, has developed a program to help law enforcement officers better prepare to give testimony in court. Victim Services Advocate Joanna Zigler is working under a grant to help victims of sex trafficking find resources and make their way through an often-intimidating court system.

As always, you can see where we'll be in the community during the next month in our Calendar of Events.

Bill Montgomery

Bill Montgomery, Maricopa County Attorney

Bringing Awareness to the Scourge of Human Trafficking

January was Human Trafficking Awareness Month and last month, 21 churches in the East Valley came together for "A Night of Hope: Exposing the Practices of Human Trafficking," to take a stand against the horrific realities of the practice.

County Attorney Bill Montgomery addressed the nearly 1,000 people in attendance and started by explaining how Arizona's highway system and geographic location creates opportunities for traffickers to move the individuals along the interstate freeway system. He emphasized the importance of people taking action by picking up the phone and making the call to law enforcement when they come into contact with a victim of human trafficking. He then reminded attendees that Arizona has increased penalties for the pimps and those who purchase individuals for sex.

Sadly, since 2015 the number of human trafficking cases prosecuted by MCAO has doubled. However, in the last two years MCAO has been able to secure sentences ranging from 102-330 years for child prostitution and sex traffickers.

"You see this is a market place where people are trading in human flesh," said County Attorney Bill Montgomery. "If you don't have a buyer, you can't have a seller. If there are no sellers, there are no victims."

Learn More About Criminal Justice at the MCAO Citizens Academy

If you've ever wondered what it's like to be a prosecutor, or how a criminal case gets to trial, our Citizens Academy is for you. Applications are now being accepted for winter and spring sessions.

The Citizens Academy takes you behind the scenes to show how a case progresses from the initial investigation through final sentencing. You'll sit in on courtroom proceedings, take a tour of the jail, and learn about trial exhibits, cold case investigations and more.

Classes last one full day, and upcoming dates are listed below. Classes fill up fast, so apply early.

ADOT launches website focused on safe driving

FocusOnDriving.com has tips for experienced, new drivers

PHOENIX – Have you ever wondered what action to take when an overhead sign warns of an oncoming wrong-way driver? Curious about how to proceed when a dust storm appears on the horizon? Want to confirm the logistics of navigating a roundabout?

FocusOnDriving.com has answers to those questions and more.

The Arizona Department of Transportation launched FocusOnDriving.com, a collection of safe-driving resources aimed to make motorists more informed about how to stay safe on Arizona's roads. The site contains video public service announcements, information from current and past safety campaigns and general safe-driving tips.

"This website provides a wide variety of safe-driving information to drivers," said ADOT director John Halikowski. "Informed drivers make better decisions and, in turn, that makes Arizona's roads safer for all of us."

Current safe-driving topics on the site include wrong-way drivers, dust storms, winter weather, child safety seats, Arizona's "Move Over" law and more.

For more information, visit FocusOnDriving.com.

ADOT detectives protect Arizonans' identities, investigate vehicle fraud

Office of Inspector General's mission is aligned with agency's responsibilities

PHOENIX – Identity theft involving Arizona driver licenses and ID cards. Used vehicle deals in which buyers can't get titles transferred to their names. Unlicensed dealers flipping salvaged vehicles to unsuspecting buyers in a practice known as curbstoning.

As the state agency responsible for driver licenses and IDs, vehicle titles and more, the Arizona Department of Transportation is responsible for investigating these and other crimes through an Office of Inspector General staffed by detectives with extensive law enforcement experience.

These detectives, all of them Arizona POST-certified peace officers, will investigate fraud involving vehicle dealers, unlicensed vehicle dealers, vehicle titles, and driver licenses and state ID cards. Their duties include preventing identity theft by using facial recognition techniques and technology to detect individuals who attempt to obtain driver licenses and ID cards under the names of others.

"It makes sense for ADOT to employ detectives to investigate these kinds of cases since the Motor Vehicle Division, also under ADOT, has the information needed to help resolve these matters," said Tim Lane, director of ADOT's Enforcement and Compliance Division, which includes the Office of Inspector General. "Our detectives can investigate these cases quickly and efficiently by having direct access to MVD's databases."

While most of the 215 officers with ADOT's Enforcement and Compliance Division man ports of entry to enforce laws involving commercial vehicles, about 40 are detectives with the mission of preventing fraud. Whatever their role, officers with the Enforcement and Compliance Division officers have the same level of certification and training as officers with other law enforcement agencies around the state.

And like officers with other law enforcement agencies in Arizona, they must be prepared for the unexpected, whether they are serving an arrest warrant on someone suspected of identity theft or are inspecting trucks at a commercial port of entry. As a result, they carry firearms.

"All law enforcement work, including that in ADOT's field of focus, always involves risk," Lane said. "As we've seen recently, having certified officers with the proper training certainly helps keep our officers safe."

ADOT detectives use a variety of methods to solve cases, including facial recognition techniques and technology. Over the past few years, detectives have solved more than 150 cases using the facial recognition, such as nabbing a 40-year fugitive from New York, an 89-year-old man who collected nearly $300,000 in stolen Social Security benefits and a man using the stolen identity of an infant who died in a 1982 homicide to avoid paying child support.

Detectives also use undercover sting operations to catch unlicensed dealers selling more vehicles than allowed by state law in a 12-month period. One such investigation led to the arrest of an Avondale man who had sold 124 vehicles in 11 months without a dealer's license.

Other agencies will also bring potential fraud cases to the Office of Inspector General. Last summer, the Arizona Attorney General's Office alerted detectives to a Valley used car dealer who was trying to sell the same vehicle multiple times online without delivering the title after payment was made. ADOT detectives opened an investigation that led to his arrest for theft of the buyer's money without delivering the vehicle.

"Our detectives are very proactive and good at what they do," Lane said. "Their skill in solving identity theft cases, title fraud and stopping unlicensed dealers is unparalleled. Other agencies will often come to us for help in solving these types of cases."

ADOT News from the Motor Vehicle Division

WILL YOUR LICENSE FLY? – More people are asking about the Travel ID than ever before. That's probably because October 1, 2020 is getting closer by the day. That date is when the Transportation Security Administration will implement new, more rigorous ID requirements for air travelers. That means you will need a federally-compliant ID to get through an airport security checkpoint and other federally-controlled sites such as federal buildings.

The MVD offers the Travel ID, a driver license or ID card that meets the federal requirements. You can make an appointment at servicearizona.com to come to an MVD office to get your Travel ID. Many Authorized Third Party offices can perform this service, too.

In order to get your Travel ID, you will need to bring a form of ID such as birth certificate or valid US Passport. Your current standard driver license will not suffice. You also need to bring something with your Social Security number and TWO documents that prove you're an Arizona resident such as a utility bill, bank statement or similar document with your current address. If you've changed your name, please bring documentation to demonstrate that.

For a complete list of acceptable documents and for more information, please visit www.azdot.gov/travelid.

- AZ MVD NOW – The future is AZ MVD NOW. You may have heard of AZ MVD NOW, but if you haven't, you will see more about this exciting and secure online way to manage your vehicle registration, look at motor vehicle records, do some title transactions, schedule appointments, and much more.

2019 is the year in which AZ MVD NOW becomes a more important part of doing business with MVD online and on your schedule.

You can start a free account with AZ MVD NOW, right now! Go to www.servicearizona.com, click on the AZ MVD NOW icon and get started. It costs nothing and takes just a few minutes. The future is AZ MVD NOW!

eTitle – One of the great things you can do at AZ MVD NOW is transfer titles online. Yes, ONLINE. For Arizona-registered vehicles and one-owner to one-owner transfers, eTitle makes it easy to transfer a title and you avoid an office visit! For more information: azdot.gov/etitle.

CRIME TIPS:

GIFT CARD SCAMS

Gift cards have become one of Americans' favorite ways to mark birthdays and holidays. A 2018 Deloitte survey found that gift cards and gift certificates are on 54 percent of U.S. consumers' holiday shopping lists, making them the most popular type of present. But scammers also love gift cards, which provide them with numerous, virtually untraceable ways to steal.

According to the FBI, one common trick is for thieves to go to stores and surreptitiously scratch off the film strip on the backs of gift cards to get the personal identification numbers (PINs), which they cover back up with easy-to-obtain replacement stickers. The card numbers and PINs are entered into a computer program that repeatedly checks the retailer's website. When someone buys and loads a compromised card, the scammer is notified and can spend or transfer the money on the card, or cash it in, before the buyer or gift recipient has a chance to use it.

Fraudsters also lurk on resale or auction websites, ostensibly offering goods at an attractive discount. Once they get you interested in buying, they'll ask you to pay with a gift card. As soon as they get the card number and PIN, they vanish, and so does the money on the card. Requests for payment by gift card are also a regular feature of tech support and impersonator scams.

Another play is the phony giveaway. You get an email or text message, supposedly from a familiar store or organization (including, on occasion, AARP), saying you've won a gift card. To claim it, you just need to provide contact information, click through to a website or answer a few survey questions, often about your finances or health. Crooks can then install malware on your computer, use your data for identity theft or sell it to marketers, resulting in a barrage of spam emails about loans or miracle cures. These precautions will help you sidestep gift-card cons.

Warning Signs

- The packaging on a gift card in a store appears to have been tampered with, or the PIN is exposed.
- A person selling an item online wants to be paid via gift cards from a different retailer.

Do's

- Do delete any unsolicited email or text message offering you a gift card, without responding.
- Do get gift cards at stores that keep them behind the counter or close to checkout aisles, where they're harder to tamper with. If you buy a card stocked elsewhere in the store, make sure it's securely sealed in packaging.
- Do examine a card carefully for signs of tampering before you buy it.
- Do register your card, if the retailer offers that option. That makes it easier to track and quickly report any misuse, according to the Better Business Bureau (BBB).
- Do buy cards directly from the businesses where they can be used. If you do go through the secondary market, check reviews and only buy from reputable resellers.

Don't's

- Don't buy the top gift card right off the rack. That's where impatient scammers usually put doctored cards, the BBB says.
- Don't give personal information to anyone in exchange for a gift card.
- If you're selling a gift card through an online resale market, don't provide the buyer with the PIN until the transaction is complete.
- Don't give gift-card information to callers claiming to be from government agencies or tech companies. Only scammers ask you to pay fees, back taxes or bills for services with gift cards.

SHOULD YOU DELETE YOURSELF FROM SOCIAL MEDIA?

Posted: February 14, 2019 by Jean Taggart

You're feeling like you've had enough. All the recent news—from Facebook's Cambridge Analytica snafu to various abuses of Twitter vulnerabilities—has you wondering: Should I delete myself from social media?

Social networking does have its positive aspects. You can stay in touch with distant (or not) relatives, be included in the planning of social events within your circle of friends, get real-time updates on regional and national news, and promote your company, content, or other personal ventures. Plus, you get to experience all the cool memes a full two weeks after they've been posted on Reddit.

Then again, there are quite a few reasons—spanning security, privacy, and overall shady business practices—for leaving. In 2018 alone, Facebook experienced a security breach that impacted 50 million accounts, was responsible for a genocide incited using its platform, kept user data it said it deleted, and was caught abusing Apple development apps to test on children. Twitter, meanwhile, has not only been at the butt end of password bugs, hacks, and data breaches, but some could say these days is a general dumpster fire of bot accounts.

Instagram and Snapchat are not without their flaws, either. Hackers are targeting influencer accounts on Insta, while Snapchat has been the recipient of phishing attacks and security breaches.

Unfortunately, we can't make the decision to quit social media for you. Instead, we recommend you make a list of pros and cons. Consider what data might be lost. Consider what time and peace of mind might be gained. Weigh the rewards against the risks. If you come away feeling ready to take a step back, but not quite quit cold turkey, we can help you with ways to tighten security and privacy settings. And if that's not enough, we'll show you how to delete your accounts.

Let's start slowly

If you're not quite ready to cut the chord, a good option for cooling down on social media is to adjust the privacy settings on all of your accounts. This is a sensible thing to do, even if you aren't considering leaving. It also has the bonus side effect of increasing awareness of just how much you share on social media. In a previous blog, we discussed how to secure your social media profiles in great detail. We recommend users who aren't deleting themselves read this first to understand the intricacies. Next, here's a quick and dirty list of links to follow in order to adjust privacy settings across the top four social networking platforms:

- Facebook privacy settings
- Twitter privacy settings
- Instagram privacy settings
- Snapchat privacy settings

After adjusting the settings, it's a good idea to monitor and track your social media usage moving forward, either for the purpose of time management, focus, or beating social media addiction. As more and more of our media consumption moves to smart phones, you can leverage several apps that will help you achieve these goals. These include:

- Social Fever (Android only)
- Offtime
- Moment (Android only)
- Appdetox

Goodbye, top four!

Let's say you sat down, had a good think, and decided that it's time to move on from social media. You can begin by collecting the appropriate links. Below, we've included links to download your data from the most popular platforms. You should download your personal information from these social networking sites prior to the nuclear option, should you experience remorse. Plus, it's a real eye opener to find out exactly how much data you generate and share on social networking platforms.

Facebook

- How to permanently delete Facebook
- How to download your personal information

Time to permanent deletion: Once 14 days have passed, your deletion request will be started. This can take upwards of 90 days to complete.

Twitter

- How to deactivate your Twitter account
- How to delete your Twitter account
- How to download your Twitter archive

Time to permanent deletion: It takes up to 30 days for Twitter to completely delete your account.

Instagram

- How to delete Instagram
- How to download your personal information

Time to permanent deletion: Immediately!

Snapchat

- How to delete your Snapchat account
- How to download your data

Time to permanent deletion: 30 days

Google+

Ha ha ha, ho ho ho, he he he. This one is mostly for the giggles. Google will abandon this particularendeavor on April 2, 2019. But if you feel the need to delete yourself before then, here's what to do:

- How to delete your Google+ profile
- How to delete your Google account

The right time

Security researchers love social media platforms. They're a vast source of open-source intelligence (OSINT) and help us make attribution possible (provided your adversary has poor OPSEC). However, the reasons we enjoy social media may also be the reasons why regular consumers should take a beat and consider the benefits.

When you're ready to make a decision, we've given you all the necessary links to back up and delete these accounts, as well as some material that may help you decide which ones to keep, and how to properly secure them.

If social media is causing anxiety, stress, or depression; if you're tired of your data being mined and shared with third parties; if it's starting to feel more like work to maintain instead of pleasure, then it may be time to shore up defenses and take a break, or even step away for good. And if that time comes, we're here for you.

BLOCK WATCH IMPROVES THE QUALITY OF LIFE WITHIN NEIGHBORHOODS

Block Watches come in all sizes. They can be a few houses in a cul-de-sac to a whole square mile neighborhood. They help to develop a "sense of community" and strengthen and sustain neighborhoods by bringing residents/neighbors together with a common interest.

Every Block Watch starts with one person and their concern for the safety and well-being of themselves and their families. Their motivation may be to meet or get to know their neighbors to protect the children, to keep property values up by eliminating blight and graffiti, to stop speeding on the streets by installing speed humps to protect the children, to have peace of mind by discouraging barking dogs and loud parties, and to be safe from crimes like burglary, theft and assault.

We all want to live in a safe and secure environment. Our homes should be safe havens. By rights there should be several layers of protection from the national level to our own neighborhoods. National and state governments provide control of our borders; state and city governments provide police and fire protection, education, and other resources, community member groups provide Phoenix Neighborhood Patrollers and the posting of PNP signs on neighborhood streets; Block Watch provides neighbors watching out for neighbors; and we provide our own home security alarms, lighting and burglary prevention measures.
