Conformance Technologies to be Honored by PCI Security Standards Council

RENO, Nev., Sept. 15, 2016 (Business Wire) — Conformance Technologies, a fast-growing provider of operating systems, education systems and expertise used in managing business compliance requirements, today announced it is being honored by the PCI Security Standards Council for its contributions as a 10 year participating organization. A recognition event will be held Tuesday, Sept. 20, in conjunction with the PCI Council's 2016 North America Community Meeting at The Mirage Las Vegas.

"Participating organizations are critical in our mission to educate, empower and protect the payment card marketplace," said PCI Security Standards Council General Manager, Stephen Orfei. "As the PCI Council celebrates its ten year anniversary, we are appreciative of the continued involvement of Conformance Technologies and the commitment they have demonstrated to payment security since the Council's inception," adds Orfei. "We look forward to continuing this collaboration in the decade ahead."

"We are honored to be recognized by the PCI Council for our contribution and support during the past decade," said Darrel Anderson, president of Conformance Technologies. "Our patented PCI ToolKit solution was the first automated merchant PCI compliance validation assessment tool way back when, stated Anderson. "More recently we were first to deploy PCI DSS 3.2 validation enhancements to the market, plus today we offer truly the only cost effective Pen-Testing and PAN Scanning solution for small and medium-sized businesses (SMBs)," added Anderson.
