

Peggy's Waltz

Music and lyrics: Margaret Bagley©

I was always a lively girl,
Men young and not so young
Found me vivacious and good company

A general, a major
A sailor, a dancer
They all succumbed to my charms

But I was always a faithful wife,
Three times , and widowed twice
And no regrets for my flirting ways,
I never hate anyone,
Maintain my self alone,

Have a good time and Love God

I must have said a great many things
Foolish and hasty things
Never to hurt, I recall,
I had my beauty and others were jealous of me,
My place in society, my grace and notoriety,
I've never been saintly, I don't claim perfection
But slander was often pointed my way,
Always be faithful, that's my word to you,

Have a good time and Love God
