

I have a children's picture book scheduled for publication, but I'm not keen on the publisher's time-scale for production). Do you think I should consider self-publishing?

Q: I have a book I'd like to self-publish (or, if possible, find a regular publisher). It's a translation of an existing book. All the self-publishing companies I've talked to don't do books in Spanish.

I'd suggest contacting the Center for the Study of Books in Spanish www.csusm.edu/csb/english. They have a very detailed website and should know which companies are best to deal with in this area. 1:2/04