

Motorcycling? Yes, there is an app for that.

The February 2012 edition of Friction Zone highlights a few apps that may be beneficial to motorcyclists. “Wi-fi Finder” helps you find wi-fi hot spots while you are away from home and need the internet. It allows you find a hot spot so that you can make a video phone call on “Skype”, or look up local gas prices on the “Gas Buddy” app.

Do you want to keep track of your expenses while on this particular trip? Try “Road Trip”, “Road Trip HD” or “Mileage Tracker”. Do you need to find out where the local campground is? Try “Allstays Camp & Tent”.

And finally, are you in an unfamiliar area and you want to find the twistiest most challenging road to ride? Try the “BestBikingRoads” app. This app even has international roads listed.

Some of these apps are free, and some cost money, but that little smart phone of yours can do more than just send and receive calls while you are on the road.

Tom Martin
Law Offices of Thomas E. Martin, APC
tmartin@templaw.net
(949) 766-6792
March 2, 2012