West Neck Cemetery

For those of us interested in genealogy or just local history this event was informative. John R. Morgan the current Secretary/Treasurer of West Neck Cemetery Association intrigued us as he revealed the history of the cemetery. He also acquainted us with interesting stories about some of the people who reside within the cemetery. John R. Morgan is a descendant of some of those buried in the cemetery.

The cemetery was born from the need for more space. Old Roger's Cemetery on corner of Great Neck and Shore Road was owned years ago by the Seventh Day Baptist Church. The Church no longer has anything to do with that cemetery. In the 1850's The Seventh Day Baptist Church realized that the Old Roger's Cemetery was full. West Neck became the new cemetery for the Seventh Day Baptist Church. In the 1850's families that had their loved ones in Old Rogers Cemetery wanted them moved to West Neck Cemetery. So the Church removed all of the people from the smaller cemetery to the larger West Neck Cemetery. There are families that have been in this area for many years in these two cemeteries.

John is the keeper of the historical ledger which holds all of the records of the cemetery, including those who were remove to West Neck Cemetery from the Old Roger's Cemetery. There is also a map of the cemetery which reveals all of those who are buried in the cemetery and each plot. There are unfilled plots that may be owned by descendants, that the West Neck

Cemetery Association is searching for. If there are no known descendants or owners left, the plots may be utilized by others in the community. The cemetery at one time was just for members of the church but over the years many local residents also chose to be buried there.

West Neck Cemetery Association acknowledges their Veterans with flags. As well as maintaining the whole cemetery with respect for those who are buried there. James Campbell who was a MIA soldier in the Korea Conflict, last seen in December 1950, was finally identified and laid to rest in August of 2016 in Great Neck Cemetery. He was given full military honors and laid to rest with his parents. The Great Neck Elementary School children come to the cemetery to learn about the Veterans in the Cemetery. They are given a hand out with information about military medals. They are taken on a tour to identify which of the Veterans within the cemetery may have been awarded those medals. We hope that the tradition of the respect given this cemetery by the West Neck Cemetery Association continues through the years.
