

Cheewa James was one of the most dynamic keynote speakers we have ever had address the annual Idaho Counseling Association Conference. She completely captivated her audience and held them spellbound for over two hours. The Idaho Counseling Association has had a number of nationally known keynote speakers over the years, including Jan Borysenko and Richard Bowles, and Ms. James' presentation was more than comparable to theirs.

Cheewa's potent combination of humor, touching real-life vignettes, and Native American wisdom is dynamic and memorable. I have found myself sharing excerpts from her talk with colleagues and clients. She is energetic, very personable and inspiring.

The Idaho Counseling Association and I personally cannot recommend her too highly. Her presentation has had a deeper and more far reaching impact than many speakers whose fees are much higher.
