FEBRUARY 15-16, 2019

WSECS invites proposals for the 2019 annual meeting (www.wsecs.org), scheduled for Friday and Saturday of Presidents' Day weekend, February 15-16. The conference, under the general topic of "The Global Eighteenth Century," will feature a plenary panel of scholars debating the question, "What is a 'global eighteenth century'?" Felicity Nussbaum (English, UCLA), Satoko Shimazaki (East Asian Languages and Cultures, USC), and Claudia Brown (Art History, ASU) have been confirmed as plenary panelists, with more speakers to be added soon.

We invite scholars from all disciplines on all aspects of eighteenth-century culture. We seek to encourage proposals in particular from scholars interested in a broad range of disciplines representing the whole of the world, including the music, history, literature, economics, and cultures of Asia, Africa, and South America.

Please send a 250-word abstract by October 1, 2018, to organizers Victoria Thompson (Victoria.Thompson@asu.edu), Sören Hammerschmidt (Soren.Hammerschmidt@asu.edu), and Young Oh (youngoh@asu.edu).
