

How to Collect Nematodes

Nematode test is the same as a fertility test for soils. When the ground is warm, as in August or early September, you need to collect twelve inches deep. After October first the sample should be collected in the first and second foot and the two should be separated. Go to “Tests”, “Soil Testing” then “How to Collect a Soil Sample” button for instructions.