

X-12 Continues Utah Hillclimbing Tradition

Words by Ron Dillon Photos by Tyler Mann

On June 5-7, 2020, Utah's only hillclimb, known as X-12, fired up for the sixth time, using the biggest hills in the world of hillclimbing, off of I-15 near the Idaho/Utah border. Due to the Corona Virus nonsense, the event ran three weeks later than normal, and yet, for the third year in a row, it still got some icky weather at times, especially during Sunday's pro show, when the temperature was 45 degrees colder than when the climbing started on Friday! Regardless, even with the foul weather, the event still drew 501 entries from across the West, with record numbers of entries in a number of classes. This was round 1 of the 2020 Rockwell Pro Hillclimb Series, and that brought out a lot of new faces and new bikes, eager to kick off a new year of hillclimbing on the biggest hill in the sport at the first pro hillclimb of the season.

Altered and semi-pro classes ran all day Friday in warm weather, and for the first time ever, the hill was dry and dusty, but there was still good traction up there. When the rains started on Saturday afternoon, it made things miserable for spectators, but traction just got better and better for the racers and dust became non-existent, and organizers had added more gravel to the road, insuring that no one would get stuck coming or going, (which they didn't, even giant, lumbering motorhomes). So once and for all, without a doubt, a hillclimb CAN be run here in foul weather, so X-12 will continue to be held in the future in mid-May. This event can run just fine, rain or shine, and like the old Widomaker that ran above Draper from 1964 to 1988, springtime is perfect for it.

Enthusiasm was higher than ever this year for Utah's only hillclimb, and partners and supporters were: Box Elder County Tourism, Swire Coke, Bud Light, Frank May Ski-Doo, Rockwell Time, Cache Valley Honda/Yamaha, Rupp's Trucking, Roche Ranches, Oxbow Offroad, Ballz Clothing, Whitaker Construction, Lincoln Financial, Western Inn, and Cody Reese with Farm Bureau Insurance.

Five different hills were used over the weekend. The stock, trophy bikes ran on their own 1,025-foot hill on Saturday, and for the second year in a row, not a single rider made it over, with even the best struggling to get above 600 feet, and many looping out in huge fashion because of the steepness of the hill and terrific springtime traction. Local hot rod Tyrel Nish made the high mark on the stock hill at 779 feet, winning the huge 450 stock class. Later in the day, a number of altered and semi-pro riders made it over on several different routes, but again, many were simply over-whelmed by the sheer size of the hills, which were so long and so big that some actually complained about arm pump. This might just be the toughest hill in the country right now. It is certainly the biggest.

On the pro side, California's Joe Shipman looked just as strong as he did last year, winning the 700, 600, (he was the only one that made it over the hill in the 600 class) and 450 classes and taking third in the Open class. Former X-Games Gold Medalist, Logan Mead made a return to hillclimbing after being injured almost all of last year, and he showed that the time off didn't strip him of his talent as he won the Open pro class and took second in the 450 and fourth in the 700 pro classes. Mead raved about the joys of a 35 second Open pro hill, the longest in the world.

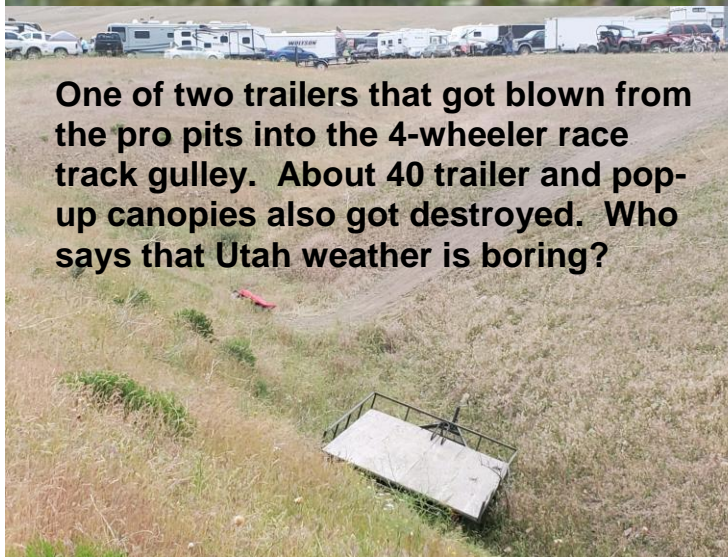

Maybe next year's X-12 will finally have three full days of nice weather, or maybe not, but regardless, Utah's only hillclimb will return on May 21-23, 2021.

The organizers again wish to extend a hearty "helmets off" to the sponsors, donators and partners. A big thank you is in order to the ranch manager Matt Gustafson and his sons, and the small army of staff and volunteers who helped, including: Spanky and Brittany Flint, Jughead and Goober, William and Mike Ekhome, and many others, including Tyler Mann Photography and Farrell Lafferty and Bill with Crowd Surfing TV. The event could also not have happened without the support of Stan Summers and the other Box Elder County Commissioners and Fielding EMS staff.

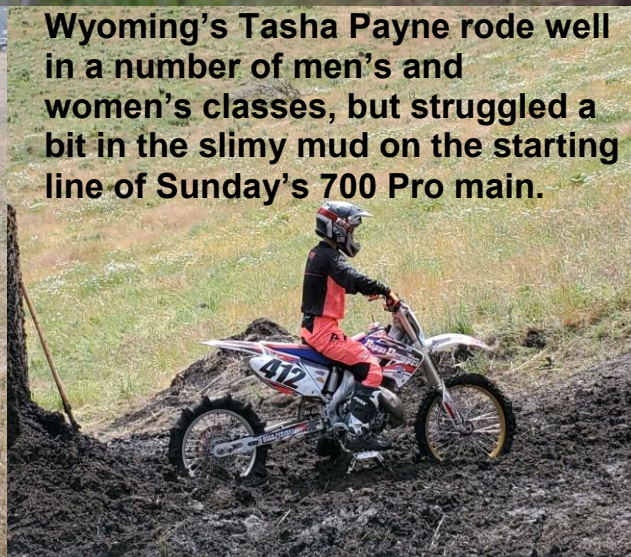

Because of the foul weather on Saturday afternoon, 30 riders did not get to ride, and all of the planned 4-wheeler races had to be scrapped. Riders whose names are highlighted below in yellow will be entitled to one free, trophy class entry at next year's X-12. For more information visit : www.x12events.com or call Ron at (208) 573-4255.

Also, please contact us if we owe you a trophy.

Utah's Travis Jackman ripping it up during Friday's Pro Stock 450 class, which allows amateurs and pros to compete head to head on an 1,100 foot hill. This was the biggest class of the weekend with 42 riders, (only 9 went over the top) and featured blue skies and 90F temps before the weather turned cold and icky on Saturday afternoon.

One of two trailers that got blown from the pro pits into the 4-wheeler race track gully. About 40 trailer and pop-up canopies also got destroyed. Who says that Utah weather is boring?

Wyoming's Tasha Payne rode well in a number of men's and women's classes, but struggled a bit in the slimy mud on the starting line of Sunday's 700 Pro main.

Pro minis also ran on Friday on an 1,100 foot hill. None made it, (although winning pro mini rider, Landon Whitlock, clawed his way up to almost 800 feet), but they all gave it a good try, like this hapless young rider.

Wyoming's Preston Cook makes primer look good as he charges up the 1,700 foot pro hill on Saturday. Cook hauled himself up to 1,131 feet to grab 26th place, with only 16 450's making it over the top. Note the ominous dark clouds in the background which brought high winds and monsoon level rains by mid-afternoon on Saturday and most of the day on Sunday.
