Technology Education from ISE

Today's challenge is to provide the customization your user base is looking for while still maintaining the integrity of your ERP database in order to stay current with the latest upgrades.

Take advantage of the tools in XA to extend beyond your Infor ERP XA database to seamlessly integrate additional data with appropriate Infor XA ERP objects and upgrade to the next release without any of your changes causing the slightest problem.

Curriculum

Enterprise Integrator

Enterprise Integrator gives you an extended ERP desktop based on the Infor ERP XA Java Architecture. You can integrate user-written or third-party applications to this client-server architecture easily and quickly, allowing you to access this information using the same user interface, even navigating to and from Infor ERP XA. Or, you can design completely separate systems.

This three-day hands-on training will cover all of the features and functions of the Integrator tool but also provide you with examples to get you started on your first project. This training requires an understanding of Power-Link and some RPG knowledge.

System-Link for Programmers

System-Link is the recommended and supported interface for connecting to XA as well as for retrieving and loading data from outside the XA Power-Link UX.

In this three-day hands-on training you will learn the precise syntax required for System-Link requests and how to use the powerful tools Infor has embedded in the IDF Level 2 products to fetch XML requests for lists and transactions and to iteratively test XML requests. Exercises involving System-Link requests will slowly increase in complexity. XA Deployment Profiles and Web Services will be introduced and utilized to access and update XA via multiple VB.NET applications. This training requires the completion of the Enterprise Integrator training, as well as RPG and VB.Net knowledge.
