

YOU DON'T WANT ME

By John Lipinski

It crossed my mind, that I'm not your kind of man, maybe not your type
You said, it's not you, it's me you see, like I never heard that one before
But, my clock keeps on tickin', I'm not panic-strickin', I'm here for the pickin', I'm ripe
You may not be ready, or want to go steady with me, and you'll be closin' that door

One thing is plain to see, you don't want me
You ain't in the market, for a brand-new lover, I discovered, so obviously
I know you've been hurt, your old man was a jerk, cuz, he left you in misery
No one wants a hurtin', but I know for certain, one thing, you don't want me

Solo

Somewhere in time, back in your prime, you gave up your heart, you know it's true
Afraid to return, you don't wanna get burned, you've learned, that's your point of view
Then I come sniffin' around, a love-sick bloodhound, but I found no interest from you
Who can invest in, this market, no question, too risky, and I ain't no fool

One thing is plain to see, you don't want me
I know you're not bookin', no dates, you ain't lookin', for anyone, you wanna be free
Stopped callin' your number, the spell I was under's been broken, you'd better believe
Cuz, I'm tired of this hurtin', and I know for certain, one thing, you don't want me

One thing is plain to see, you don't want me
I hope you ain't lyin', cause baby, I'm tryin' to leave, cuz, that's what you told me
One thing is plain to see, you don't want me, now baby, it's alright, I'll be leavin' tonight
Cuz, honey, you don't want me
