month their pension benefit would have been say the basic ($7,000.00) seven thousand dollars or pound, then for another 60 years of life, since the retirement is 60 years and the full life span is 120, then each Caicoban/person should have received the basic of ($15) fifteen million dollars for social security. If they should have received the same for their pension, then each family member who have died without getting their benefits is owed (30) thirty million dollars each.

89. Therefore, every family member can put in a claim for ($30) thirty million dollars for each one of them who have passed on without getting what was due to them. No splitting of the total to say two Caicoban/person already claimed, so you can only get a fraction of what is left. None of that. Each Caicoban/person can claim the full amount for each relative, family member, or generation they know.
