

Indianapolis Prenuptial Agreement Lawyers

A prenuptial agreement enables each party in a marriage to acknowledge the separate property of the other. It can protect those assets from claims by the other party. Prenuptial agreements are frequently used in situations where one or both of the parties have significant or complex financial assets or to ensure that the children of previous marriages receive their rightful inheritances.

The Benefits of a Prenuptial Agreement

Some people are reluctant to consider the use of a prenuptial agreement because they think it can create mistrust in the relationship or pave the way for divorce. Ruppert & Schaefer, P.C., believes otherwise — that an agreement can enhance the trust between the parties by removing potential areas of conflict from discussion or the silent thoughts of the parties. It can ensure that children of previous marriages receive the assets of their parents.

A prenuptial agreement can also foster conversations between the soon-to-be spouses regarding money management, estate planning, and even lifestyle choices. Should a divorce occur, a prenup can reduce the strife and costs associated with the division of marital property.

Ruppert & Schaefer, P.C., can advise and represent you. We can:
