These days the latest must-have designer handbag or bespoke suit can be as valuable as a museum-quality objet d'art. So why not treat these closet acquisitions with the archival respect a fine collectible deserves?

When it comes to maintaining luxury wardrobes to the absolute highest standards, Concierge Greenwich has got you covered. The multitasking personal assistance consultancy recently partnered with Garde Robe, to offer its unique Cyber Closet management services. The white glove service will photograph, catalogue and store your apparel, providing you 24/7 cyber access to all of the items in Garde Robe's care—no matter where in the world you are. In Milan and forgot your Birkin bag? No problem. The folks at Garde Robe will have it on the next plane. They will also pack and ship your luggage and help you transition closets for the seasons.

Speaking of impeccable storage, Concierge Greenwich also has its clients' security in mind when it comes to accessing and protecting their confidential wealth data too. It recently formed another strategic alliance with Summitas, which specializes in offering state-of-the-art encrypted communications portals. The service allows families to confidentially share spreadsheets (and other private matters) even if the clan is spread out. "Our company is continually on the lookout for unique proprietary services that we believe will be valuable to and enhance the lifestyle management of our clients," says Carol Goldstone, managing director of Concierge Greenwich.
