

There are many families in Virginia that need legal assistance for guardianships, powers of attorney, and/or special needs trusts that cannot afford attorney fees. Current nonprofit organizations, pro-bono legal clinics, and low-bono law firms like BeneCounsel cannot fill this need on their own.

That's where Lighthouse Disability Law will come in, with the mission of providing free legal services, directly and indirectly, to low-income families in the areas of guardianships, powers of attorney, and third-party special needs trusts.

We're still in the formation stage and are working on our application for 501c3 status. Please be on the lookout for more to come!
