

Why Worms?

Here are a few simple reasons for having a worm bin and raising worms yourself.

- Recycling your organic and paper waste
- Reduce landfill usage
- Produce organic fertilizer
- Generating live garden aerators
- Easy family fun activity

The worms at work!

Blue Collar Worms

2006 Broken Circle Road
Colorado Springs, Co. 80915
Phone: 719-573-7624
Email: info@bluecollarworms.com

Worms That Work!

Your source for:
Composting Worms
Castings
Worm Supplies
Education
Workshops

• 719-573-7624
Email: info@bluecollarworms.com

Vermicomposting

Vermicomposting is composting with the help from worms and beneficial micro-organisms. This method allows you the opportunity to compost year round, in contrast to compost piles that are ineffective in cold winter months. Kitchen waste is being generated constantly and can be transformed into a nutrient rich soil additive.

The worms speed up the composting process by eating their weight in organic waste every two days. The environment is helped by reducing landfill usage. The fertilizer produced is more beneficial and readily used by the plants. The regeneration of the worms is among the many benefits. It's a Win-Win situation!

The Home Worm Bin

You can create your own fertilizer factory using a tote, some bedding, and one or two pounds of Red wiggler worms. Your worms will consume your organic kitchen waste and produce castings an amazing natural fertilizer and soil amendment. Castings can be used to enrich house plants, lawns, and gardens.

Castings Benefits

Worm castings improve the composition of the soil by adding nitrogen, and reduce water usage by retaining moisture. Castings promote beneficial microbial activity in the soil, without causing groundwater contamination. Don't worry about adding too much because, Castings will never burn or harm your plants.

Available Products

Composting Worms

Worm Castings

Prepared bedding

Worm bin (15 gal)

Harvesters

Complete Home Bins
(Bin, Bedding, Worms, Instructions)

Please contact us for pricing.

Blue Collar Worms

2006 Broken Circle Road
Colorado Springs, Co. 80915
Phone: 719-573-7624
Email: info@bluecollarworms.com