Cyclists Ride in Support of Prostate Cancer Awareness

The Urology Health Foundation held its 5th annual Tour de Blue: Cycling for Prostate Cancer Awareness event on April 28. Cyclists from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Ohio participated in the event, which took them through portions of Jefferson, Shelby, and St. Clair counties. This year's Tour de Blue honored the memory of Dennis Goodwin and his courageous fight against prostate cancer.

Proceeds will benefit the Urology Health Foundation, a Birmingham-based non-profit organization which provides free prostate cancer screenings across Alabama, especially in underserved areas at highest risk. Its President, Thomas E. Moody, MD was recognized in 2011 as a WebMD Health Hero for his prostate cancer work in Alabama. For more information, visit UrologyHealthFoundation.org.

CRMC Opens Wound Care Center

Cullman Regional Medical Center has opened a specialized Wound Care Center® through a partnership with Healogics, the largest provider of wound care and related disease management in the country with a network that manages over 500 Wound Care Centers® in more than 10 percent of the hospitals in the nation.

This service will offer a comprehensive wound care program to manage chronic or non-healing wounds caused by diabetes, circulatory problems and other conditions. The center houses two new hyperbaric oxygen chambers and three treatment rooms and is located on the back side of Professional Office Building One with a separate entrance.

The CRMC Center for Wound Healing is an outpatient program that works in conjunction with the patient's primary care physician. The program operates by appointment and requires a referral from the primary care physician.

Lorie Strane, BS, CMA is the Center's Program Director and Brad Moody, MD is the Medical Director.
