RE: Licensing of Designated Responsible Licensed Producer for NH Credit Insurance Producers

Pursuant to N.H. RSA 402-J:6 (II), all entities licensed to sell, solicit, or negotiate insurance in New Hampshire are required to have a designated licensed producer responsible for the business entity's compliance with all insurance laws, rules, and regulations.

After a review of the Department's licensing records, the New Hampshire Insurance Department has determined that a significant number of NH credit insurance producers, including banks, credit unions, and car dealerships, do not have a designated responsible licensed producer ("DRLP") on file with the Department.

All NH credit insurance producers should review their records and business practice to ensure that they have a DRLP. Failure to comply with this statutory requirement may result in administrative action.
