JULY-AUGUST 1988

NEWSLETTER NOTES

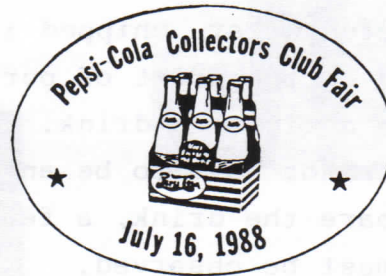

It's with great personal sorrow that I report that Carole Carlock long time Pepsi Collector passed away May 2, 1988. Carole was a member of the PCCC since the club first started. Carole was an avid collector who will be missed by all who knew her.

We have a limited number of Pepsi-Fest 88 packets available at a cost of only $14.50ppd.

Our best wishes to Tom Avery who is recovering from major surgery.

Thanks to all of you who have written articles or contributed information for the newsletter, please keep up the good work!

The Pepsi-Cola Collectors Fair is just days away and I'm looking forward to having a Pepsi with old Pepsi friends and making some new ones.

COME ALIVE! Join the Pepsi Generation at the 4th Annual Pepsi Collectors Fair, July 16th, 1988 from 9:00a.m. - 3:00p.m. at Cortez Park in West Covina, CA.

HOW TO PREPARE FOUNTAIN PEPSI
PEPSI-COLA COMMEMORATIVE BOTTLES

PEPSI-COLA HISTORY

Below is the recommended way of preparing fountain Pepsi-Cola in 1947. Taken from "Pepsi-Cola Salesmanship & Merchandising".

HOW TO PREPARE FOUNTIAN PEPSI-COLA.

In preparing a fountain Pepsi-Cola, Pepsi-Cola syrup is mixed-with carbonated water, chipped ice, and stirred-at the point of purchase to make a finished drink. While one does not have to be an expert to prepare the drink, a few simple rules must be observed.

Clean, sterile glasses, or paper cups should be used; carbonated water should be cold and sparkling between 38 and 42; the Pepsi-Cola syrup must be cool. The Pepsi-Cola dispenser discharges 1½ozs. of syrup into the Pepsi-Cola glass or paper cup. A small scoop of chipped ice is added; then carbonated water; stir and serve. The method of drawing the carbonated water is important. Let it flow gently down the side of the glass or cup; otherwise the carbonated gas will escape and lower the quality of the drink.

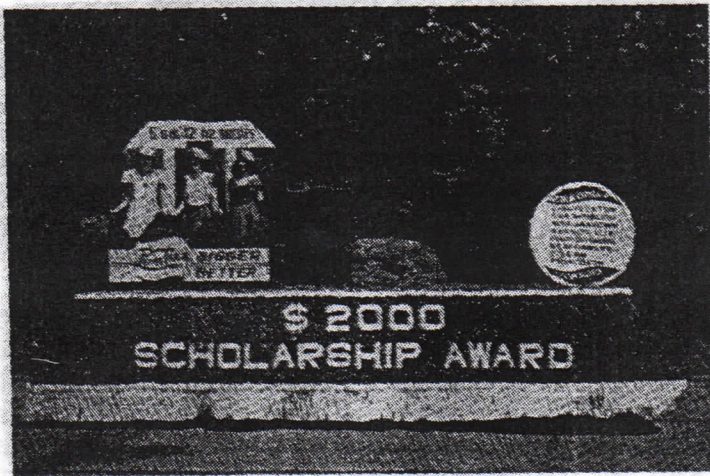

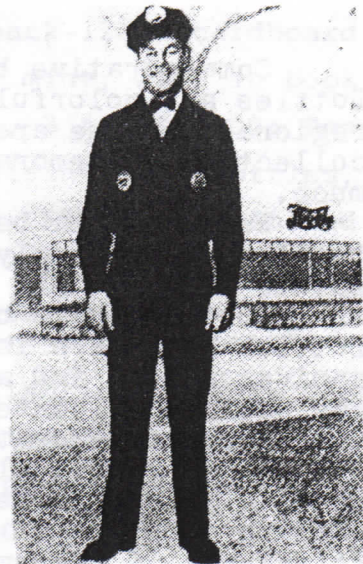

Where the twelve-ounce syrup bottle is used for dispensing, the method of serving fountain Pepsi-Cola is the same, with one exception.

Pour the syrup into the Pepsi-Cola glass or cup up to the "syrup-line".

Pepsi - Cola Commemorative Bottles
By Jeff Cummins

Commemorative bottles are a nice addition to any collection. Bottles are colorful and interesting to look at, and due to their regional release areas are a nice challenge to collect. I have been collecting commemorative bottles for over 15 years and enjoy it very much.

Pepsi - Cola began producing limited runs of commemorative bottles in the early 1970's when a bottle was released in 1972 to salute the 1971 NFL champs Dallas Cowboys. Since then, over 80 different bottles have been produced by local bottlers across the country. Bottles have been issued that commemorate sports teams, local bottler anniversaries, and a number of different bottles were produced for the nations' bicentennial in 1976.

Most commemorative Pepsi bottles are currently selling in the 3-5 dollar range, although as in other collectables, some command a premium price. Three bottles - The Oklahoma City bottler (1977) commemorating a decade of progress 1967-1977, The Wm. Scheele bottler of Ft. Wayne, IN commemorating the 3,000,000th case of Pepsi sold 1976, and the St. Louis Arch 1976 Bi-centennial are all selling in the 75-100 dollar range due to their scarcity. The St. Louis Arch bottle was rejected and never issued. It is believed that only a very few exist.

The majority of bottles were issued in the mid 1970's and only a few are produced today. The latest issues are the Tennessee Homecoming celebration in 1986 and the Sunbelt Agri-expo in Georgia in both 1986 & 1987.

All major soft drink companies have issued commemorative bottles with Coca - Cola currently being the only company actively producing bottles. I estimate that over 1100 different commemorative bottles have been released nationwide over the years. I am always interested in talking with other collectors. My address is :1945 N. College, Apt. 17, Bloomington, IN 47401 and my telephone # is: 812-333-0007 Friday or Saturday only as I work 3 to 11 pm during the week.
