

We are proud to announce our partnering with the Galt Ranch located here in central Montana nestled between the Big Belt and Little Belt Mountains. A fourth-generation family owned and operated outfit that has been ranching for nearly a century, they are committed to using ethical and sustainable practices. The cattle are free to graze and are finished on grains and grasses grown there on the ranch without adding any hormones or antibiotics.

Using only the best Tajima Bulls to bred with their Black Angus herd they produce some of the finest marbled American-style Kobe Beef you will find anywhere in the country. Commitment and passion are essential in raising cattle especially when the goal is to produce the most excellent steaks available today.

Tradition runs deep here in Montana and no where more so then on the Galt Ranch.
