

Help put George Washington back in our South Carolina Schools

Lansdowne Portrait

George Washington stands before you in a full-length portrait by Gilbert Stuart. The painting, done in 1796, is known as the Lansdowne portrait because it was a gift to the Marquis of Lansdowne, an English supporter of American independence, from Senator and Mrs. William Bingham of Pennsylvania.

One of the originals is still hanging in the White House today as it was saved by First Lady Dolley Madison during the burning of the White House by the British during the War of 1812

Large Framed Portrait

Portrait comes complete with double matt, custom frame and engraved name plate.
