

COMET SIDING SPRING

CONCEPTUAL ILLUSTRATION OF POSSIBLE ATMOSPHERIC COLLISIONS

According to NASA's calculations, comet Siding Spring C/2013 A1 will pass extremely close to the planet Mars on October 19, 2014. The illustrations below will show an approximate depiction of a top view of the solar system when the comet reaches perihelion with Mars. Although the comet is not expected to directly collide with the planet, the atmospheres of each may interact to a certain degree due to the comet's close proximity. Comets have been known to collide with planets as with Jupiter in 1994. It will almost exactly 20 years since the Shoemaker-Levy comet broke apart and slammed into Jupiter. Such a collision of atmospheres could produce an electromagnetic 'light show'. Comets do collide also with the Sun as the gravitational pull exerted on the comet changes its trajectory and are vaporized. Thus although a slight probability, there could be a change in the comet's course that could allow for the comet to directly impact the surface of the planet. Several unique properties are illustrated about comet Siding Spring that have a peculiar association to comet ISON and the infamous Mayan Doomsday calendar still. Also, during the Hybrid solar eclipse of Nov 3, 2013, comet ISON crossed Earth's path as it passed by Mars as well. Interestingly, it is exactly 666 days from Dec 21, 2012 to Oct 19, 2014 when Siding Spring reaches Mars. Comet ISON also has a unique numerical factor in that 666 days from ISON's perihelion on Nov 28, 2013 corresponds to the end of the Tetrads series of 2014-15 in between Rosh HaShana and Sukkot. The other peculiarity is that the difference between the distance of Siding Spring's distance to Mars is the difference between ISON's tail length compared to the distance of the Earth to the Moon. Prophetically what could all this mean, for one, it is a Heavily Sign that based on interpretations of the Mazzaroth, the timing depicts a message that when World War III occurs, i.e., sudden destruction, there will be a harvest of the Bride of Christ in tandem.

THE INSTRUMENT OF SALVATION

The Bride of Christ is not subject to the Wrath and Judgment to befall the world. The Cross is the key to the coming escape. As it was at the Cross of Calvary, Jesus the Passover Lamb of GOD took the wrath of GOD for the sins of mankind. Christ was in essence as a victim slaughtered on the Altar of Sacrifice that Saturn in turn is to suffer the Wrath and judgment of the LORD.

AN ASTRONOMICAL DEPICTION

The depiction below illustrates the Biblical them of sudden destruction, war and escape or deliverance of GOD's People. What is unique about the perihelion of Siding Spring is that it correlates to a unique planetary conjunctions. Ophiuchus the Serpent Bearer is a depiction of the rise of the Beast, the Serpent Dragon Lucifer that through world war with forge a New World Order. When this destruction, suddenly to come occurs, the Bride of Christ will be 'harvested' in tandem.

OMEN OF WORLD WAR
The astronomical 'picture' of what the morning sky will depict is perhaps an omen of what is prophetically written in the Scriptures. From an eschatological possible interpretation, Mars denotes war and the timing and juxtaposition of the comet's perihelion, its day count from the Mayan Doomsday date and the Cross configured in Virgo present an amazing array of omens that are seen in the Bible that are to come. This interpretation is not asserting that when the flyby occurs that the Rapture or World War III will commence but that it is an astronomical certainty to come on Earth as it is written in the Heavens.

VIRGO
The Bride of Christ is holding His Cross because it is the instrument of her salvation during the coming wrath.

ELECTRO-MAGNETIC CHARGES
If the speculation of Siding Spring's flyby does nothing more than charge Mars with electromagnetic currents, the spectacle of this interaction could be seen from Earth perhaps as Mars would 'lit up' like a firecracker of sorts. The planet would seem to 'glow' as it would be sitting on the western horizon over the Temple Mount. Such a spectacle could render Mars, the God of War with a punctuation of war to come no doubt.
