ABOUT FOSTER CARE AND KINSHIP

Foster care is a temporary arrangement in which adults provide care for a child or children whose birthparent is currently unavailable to care for them.

Kinship placement can also be temporary care; however, it is provided by a family member related to and trusted by the child's family of origin. Both placements can be informal or arranged through the courts or a social service agency. The goal for a child in foster care and kinship placement is usually reunification with the birth family but may be changed to a more permanent solution such as adoption when it is in the child's best interest.

SUPPORTING CAREGIVERS AND CHILDREN

The phrase "it takes a village" couldn't be more true. Both caregivers and children need support. Below are some free resources to help families.

Family home visits, developmental education, activities, parent support, and free books!

DEVELOPMENTAL CONCERNS?

It is important to find out if a child does indeed have a disability or developmental delay. The best way to address your concern is to speak with the child's pediatrician. If there is a disability or delay, the child will likely be eligible for special education and related services.

What is a developmental delay? Click here.

A statewide system of services and supports for children under age three who have a delay in their development, or may be at risk of having a delay, and their family.
