Biography

Orin was born in Bad Axe, Michigan on October 23, 1939, and was one of Otis and Beatrice Robinson's five children. He lived in Bad Axe his entire life. Orin and Goldie Robinson were married on April 25, 1961. Orin was a loving husband and a role model for his children and grandchildren who he dearly loved. He was as honest as the day is long and was a very proud man. Orin worked very hard, often seven days a week, for what seemed like years on end all in an effort to make sure his family was provided for. He could build or fix almost anything – it was amazing some of the things he could do. He loved his family and cherished the time he spent with them. He also enjoyed hunting, fishing, watching the birds in his backyard (that Goldie always made sure had water and birdseed), bus trips to the casino and helping his kids with anything they needed help with...he was always there for them. Orin joined the Merchant Marines after attending high school. He enjoyed sharing stories about the people he met, the port visits and some of the adventures he had while sailing the Great Lakes. After his days at sea, he was hired at Active Industries and went to night school at Delta College where he earned his Journeymen's card as a pipefitter. He worked at Active Industries/Tower Automotive for over 41 years and was talented pipefitter, did machine repair and served as a Union Committee Representative where he learned vast knowledge of Labor Law and its application. Orin made many friends during his time at Active/Tower.
