I. Rights and the Role of Rights Review Committee

A. Purpose/Focus of ABLED, Inc. Rights Review Committee

Organizations providing intellectual disabilities services in Nebraska must establish a Rights Review Committee because it is required by law. The Rights Review Committee must review, approve, and monitor restrictive behavior management practices.

The primary purpose and focus of Rights Review Committee is to fulfill an advocacy role unencumbered by conflict of interest to ensure the organization promotes and protects the rights of the people it serves.

ABLED, Inc. has no legal or moral authority over the individuals receiving services. However, we have a great deal of responsibility to protect the individuals receiving services. This responsibility often places us in the position of limiting or restricting individual rights, as many interventions and procedures intended for protection are in fact restrictive. Having a Rights Review Committee that functions outside of ABLED, Inc.'s authority ensures a level of protection to individuals served in the event that rights are limited or restricted.

Rights Review Committee serves as a mechanism to promote and protect individual rights.

The rights review committee must conduct a thorough review, including requesting additional information as needed to make recommendations to the provider as appropriate regarding the following types of situations:

1. Review provider practices, supports, programs, and policies and procedures as they relate to protection of rights and safety;
2. Review the use of restrictive measures and psychotropic medication;
3. Review all situations that utilized emergency safety interventions; and
4. Review all reports and investigations of alleged or suspected abuse, neglect, mistreatment, and exploitation.
5. Meets no less than semi-annually.

B. Membership of Rights Review Committee

The membership of the Rights Review Committee will include persons with a knowledge of rights issues and a commitment to ABLED, Inc. philosophy. They should understand their duties (including confidentiality) and be willing to challenge current practices.

Rights Review Committee members are recruited from outside of ABLED, Inc. The Committee must have within its membership the expertise to effectively evaluate case referrals.

There is a value in members who have different perspectives.

Committee membership may include but not limited to persons:

1. With rights experience, such as clergy, attorneys or judges
2. With clinical training, such as pharmacists, psychologists, nurses, or social workers
3. With a disability
4. Who are involved family members
5. Who are members of advocacy organizations, such as People First or The ARC
6. Who are administrators
7. Who are community members with a particular interest in rights

The committee members must be persons free from conflict of interest and who will ensure the confidentiality of information related to individuals served. The person responsible for approving the individual's program and any staff who provides direct services to the individual cannot participate as decision makers. At least half of the committee members must be individuals, family, or other interested persons who are not provider staff.

C. About Rights

A Right is a power or privilege to which one is entitled. There are several types of rights: Rights continue to evolve as advocacy groups, and the state and federal branches of the government, pass laws, establish codes and administrative rules.

People with intellectual disabilities have the same basic statutory, constitutional and human rights as other citizens.

Statutory Rights, also known as civil and legal rights, are established through the legislature.

Constitutional Rights — life, liberty, etc. were established through the Constitution of the United States.

Human Rights were established through the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Rights granted by an agency or organizations are often referred to as Consumer Rights.

1. Each person determines which rights are most important to them. The exercising of rights is a function of personal choice.
2. People need to be educated about their rights.
3. One of the most important responsibilities ABLED, Inc. has is to assist, guide, and educate individuals in the expression and exercise of rights. To carry out this responsibility people need opportunities and support to:

- a. Make decisions and choices
- b. Express and set goals
- c. Increase their personal possessions
- d. Maintain personal relationships
- e. Increase involvement in the community Increase privacy

ABLED, Inc. will ensure that:

1. Rights and responsibilities are specified and this specification does not conflict with State regulations;
2. Each individual supported, parent if a minor, or legal representative is informed of the individual's rights and responsibilities;
 - a. The information must be given at the time of entry to services, annually thereafter, and when significant changes occur; and
 - b. The information must be provided in a manner that is easily understood, given verbally and in writing, in the native language of the individual, or through other modes of communication necessary for understanding.
 - c. The provision of supports to individuals receiving services in exercising their rights;
3. Rights must not be treated as privileges; and
4. Prohibit retaliation against individuals' services and supports due to the individual, family members, or legal representatives advocating on behalf of the individual supported. This includes initiating a complaint with outside agencies.

D. Restrictions

A restriction is defined as any externally imposed limitation of rights. Rights should only be restricted to ensure:

- Individual Protection
- Protection of Others, and Property
- Health and Safety

No one in our society has total freedom to act or live as they choose. Limitations occur as a result of laws, community norms, and involvement with other people. ABLED, Inc. has a responsibility to ensure a level of protection to individuals served that may result in the need for an individual's rights to be limited or restricted. When there is a need for a limitation or a restriction, it should be implemented impartially and fairly.

Due process is essential in the event that rights are limited or restricted.

Due process includes consent, review and approval by Rights Review Committee, access to a grievance procedure and, in some cases, legal representation.

ABLED, Inc. must apply due process procedures in all situations where rights are limited and/or restricted.

The primary purpose and focus of a Rights Review Committee should be to fulfill an advocacy role unencumbered by conflict of interest to ensure the organization promotes and protects the rights of the people it serves.

Deciding how much protection is too much or too little is not an easy job. Too much supervision/control limits the individual's opportunities to learn and restricts unnecessarily. Too little supervision or support/intervention may put the individual at risk or in danger.

1. Restrictions, when necessary, are not bad.
2. The more mobile and independent people are, the more likely we are to impose unnecessary supports.
3. Restrictions must be individualized.
4. All staff need to constantly evaluate the impact that facility policies and practices have on people's lives, and update those policies and practices if they conflict with people's rights.
5. Do not rely on a definitive list to identify restrictions. Consider the "neighbor test" which says if you cannot do it to your neighbor, it is probably restrictive.
6. What is restrictive for one individual may not be restrictive for another.
7. What is the least restrictive for one individual may be too intrusive for another.
8. The individual's opinion about the restriction is important.
9. Re-evaluate often to reinstate rights.
10. There is never just one solution to a rights issue.

E. Appropriate Rights Restrictions

Appropriate restrictions exist and are a necessary element of the services provided. The use of psychotropic medications, physical restraint, and the denial of food or possessions, are all easily recognized restrictions. But, due to a variety of reasons, individuals served are subjected to a variety of less obvious restrictions. Everyone needs to be diligent in assessing the services and supports to determine if restrictions or limitations are imposed.

All ABLED, Inc. staff, subcontractors, and committee members must be mindful and aware of any restrictions or limitations that are imposed. The following are possible indications of an individual's rights being restricted:

- The individual has to ask and get permission to be alone.
- Staff enter an individual's room without permission.
- Staff go through the individual's purse, pockets, drawers, etc.
- The individual does not or is not allowed to make their own decisions.
- The individual is not allowed or has guidelines imposed on things (e.g. smoke, eat junk food, carry money, diet).

- The individual has to ask (or believes they have to ask) for a snack.
- Staff impose an action that could not be imposed on a neighbor.
- Foods the individual prefers are not purchased.
- The individual's body language/communication attempts to remove protective gear aren't supported (e.g. helmets, belts, pads, etc.).
- The individual is not allowed or assisted to answer their phone or doorbell.
- Junk mail is removed from the individual's mail before they see it.
- The individual does not have free access to his/her possessions (e.g. toothpaste, razor, sharps).
- The individual's schedule is not individualized or agreed to (e.g. set time for bed, bath, personal time, visiting, or having friends over).
- The individual asks permission to go anywhere in their own home (e.g. locked doors, cupboards, refrigerator, gates).
- The power is turned off of any supportive device such as a communication board or electric wheelchair to punish or control the individual.

F. Restrictive Measures

To the fullest extent possible, an individual's rights may not be suspended or restricted. In the event where a restrictive measure is considered:

1. The restrictive measure determined necessary for one individual must not affect other individuals who receive services in that setting;
2. The restrictive measure must not be used as punishment, for the convenience of staff, due to shortage of staff, as a substitute for habilitation, or as an element of a positive behavior support plan;
3. The restrictive measure must be the least restrictive and intrusive possible;
4. There must be a goal of reducing and eliminating the restrictive measure;
5. Prior to proposing a restrictive measure, there must be documented evidence that other less restrictive methods have been regularly applied by trained staff and failed;
6. The individual or their legal representative, if applicable, must give consent to the restrictive measure;
7. The restrictive measure must be safe for the individual, and
8. The restrictive measure and these considerations must be documented in the ISP.

Prior to implementation of a restrictive measure, ABLED, Inc. will ensure review and approval by the ISP team and rights review committee.

G. Psychotropic Medication

Psychotropic medications taken by the individual due to diagnosed mental illness (a dual diagnosis of a severe and persistent mental illness in conjunction with an intellectual disability) must:

1. Only be given as prescribed by a physician who has authority in his/her scope of practice to determine the diagnosis. PRN (as needed) psychotropic medications are prohibited;
2. Be reviewed by the ISP team to determine if the benefits outweigh the risks and potential side effects;
3. Be supported by evidence that a less restrictive and more positive technique had been systematically tried and shown to be ineffective;
4. Be reviewed by the Rights Review Committee. There must be an annual review by the prescribing physician and a semi-annual review by the ISP team of all psychotropic medications utilized. There must be clear and convincing evidence that the individual has a person-centered plan demonstrated by data and outcome measures;
5. Not be used as a way to deal with under-staffing; ineffective, inappropriate or other nonfunctional programs or environments;
6. Also have a supports plan established and in place to address if symptoms reappear and the possibility that the use of medication is no longer effective; and
7. Be monitored and documented on an ongoing basis by the provider to provide the ISP team and physician sufficient information regarding:
 - a. The effectiveness of and any side effects experienced from the medication;
 - b. Frequency and severity of symptoms; and
 - c. The effectiveness of the positive behavioral supports plan.

Psychotropic medications used solely for the purpose of modifying behaviors may only be used if:

1. There is a plan to reduce and eliminate the medication; and
2. The drug is used in conjunction with a positive behavioral supports plan.

A positive behavioral supports plan is not required when an individual is prescribed a medication that has the effect of behavior modification, but is prescribed for other reasons, as documented by a physician.

H. Emergency Safety Intervention

An emergency safety intervention utilized pursuant to a safety plan is allowed to respond to an emergency safety situation. This is different than physical restraint because it is not used as a behavioral consequence. In instances where the individual must be kept from harm (i.e., running into traffic, leaving a moving car or other serious, unusual life-threatening actions by the individual), ABLED, Inc. must use reasonable and best judgment to intervene to keep the individual from injuring him/herself or others. This may include hands-on guidance to safely protect the individuals and others from immediate jeopardy or physical harm.

These situations are not predictable, are unusual, and are usually not reoccurring. In any instances other than these, there must be a positive behavioral supports program in place to work with the individual on alternative displays of behavior that are incompatible with other negative behaviors.

All such incidents must be documented and reviewed by the individual's ISP team and rights review committee to ensure that the emergency safety intervention was appropriate rather than an instance of mechanical or physical restraint.

I. Prohibited Methods

ABLED, Inc. will prohibit the use of mechanical or physical restraints. This includes aversive stimuli, corporal punishment, seclusion, verbal abuse, physical abuse, emotional abuse, denial of basic needs, discipline, or implementation of an intervention of an individual in services by another individual in services, or other means of intervention with the behavior that result in, or is likely to result in injury to the individual.

J. Examples of Inappropriate Rights Restrictions

1. A guardian dictates a restriction. Teams need to determine the appropriateness of ABLED, Inc. imposing any restriction regardless of having consent/direction to do so. The team has a responsibility to evaluate the need for a restriction, and to use the least restrictive alternative. While guardians must consent to restrictions, they do not have authority over ABLED, Inc. or the services provided by ABLED, Inc., nor does consent from a guardian override ABLED, Inc. responsibilities, philosophy, policy and or procedure.
2. A doctor recommends a restriction. Teams must consider the restriction and determine what action is to be taken. The decision to impose a restriction should be based on the risk involved, irreversible impact, intrusiveness, and the individual's ability to make an informed decision. People have the right to get a second opinion.
3. Staff dictates rules for their convenience. Anyone sharing a facility or living with another must abide by some rules or agreed upon routines. However, when a rule is imposed on an individual against their will, it must be considered a restriction. Individuals should be involved in the development of the rules and routines in order to learn to live with others, share facilities, respect others, and exercise control over their lives.

4. Staff applies a restriction because they have always done it that way. Teams are to determine the least restrictive level and type of support needed on an individual basis. There should be a rationale for the restriction and it should be clear that the restriction imposed meets the needs of the individual without being more intrusive than need be.

5. The team proposed a restriction. Despite the best of intentions a team may not have proposed the most appropriate plan. Rights Review Committee serves as a safety net to ensure that rights are not unjustly or excessively restricted. In order to make such determinations, the Committee must question and evaluate team decisions.

K. Least Restrictive Alternative

Least restrictive alternative is defined as the level of intervention determined to be the least intrusive, least disruptive and represents the least departure from normal patterns of living that can be effective in meeting the individual's developmental needs.

ABLED, Inc. Rights Review Committee should ensure that services and supports are as minimally restrictive to an individual's personal liberty as possible. Evaluating whether or not teams have examined options and have chosen based on the least restrictive alternative is an important step in promoting and protecting an individual's rights.

There are numerous interventions that a team can choose from when an individual's behavior is such that the team must intervene. In order for a Rights Review Committee member to make a determination as to whether or not a proposed intervention is the least restrictive alternative, the following questions should be asked to determine if the restriction is the least restrictive alternative:

1. What right is being infringed upon?
2. What less intrusive/restrictive options have been tried?
3. Does it appear the team has discussed/exhausted less restrictive options?
4. Does the level and method of restriction seem appropriate?

Question #1: What right is being infringed upon?

The plan presented to the Rights Review Committee should clearly outline all rights restricted or infringed upon. More than one right can be restricted or infringed upon at the same time. For example, imposing a diet may result in several rights restrictions such as:

- Limited access to food
- Limited or no choice of food selections
- Limited or no access to money that may be used to obtain food
- Limited or no free community access

Question #2: What less intrusive/restrictive options have been tried?

In order for a Rights Review Committee member to answer this question, he/she must mentally imagine options that the team has considered.

For example: Moving someone into a residence with 24-hour supervision and limited access to food is a very restrictive intervention that might be selected to address overeating. What less restrictive options might have been tried to address this behavior? Possible options to addressing overeating:

Training in nutrition	Increasing exercise
No training/intervention	Decreased access to food
Join a weight/diet organization	Menu planning
Grocery shopping assistance	Alternate interests
Assist with meal/snack preparation	Diet food options available

Question #3: Does it appear the team has discussed and exhausted less restrictive options?

Through documentation or ABLED, Inc. staff presentation, is it clear what has been previously tried? Does it appear the team has tried other less restrictive options? Have other sound options been evaluated and tried?

Question #4: Does the level and method of restriction seem to be the least restrictive alternative?

Each Rights Review Committee member should determine if the restriction (s) proposed seem appropriate based on the answers to the previous questions. More questions may need to be asked to provide understanding and clarification.

Committee members should feel free to ask questions and feel comfortable withholding their approval if the proposed restriction does not appear to be appropriate.

L. Positive Behavioral Supports

ABLED, Inc. will emphasize positive approaches directed towards maximizing the growth and development of each individual. ABLED, Inc. will ensure the following behavior supports and emergency safety interventions for emergency safety situations are in place:

1. The assessment must define the communicative function of the behavior for the individual;
2. The assessment must focus on what purpose the identified behavior serves in the individual's life;
3. A review of the individual's day supports, residential supports, and other relevant data must be incorporated in the assessment process;
4. A plan for the individual must be developed that emphasizes positive meaningful activities and options that are consistent with the behavior targeted for change;
5. There must be a combination of a planned meaningful day and individualized day and individualized supports for the individual;
6. The plan must include a description of potential stressors and triggers that may lead to the individual experiencing a crisis. Once identified, there must be a comprehensive safety plan developed and implemented; and
7. There must be meaningful and individualized data collection and data analysis that track the progress of the individual. The data must be presented in a useful manner and collected through a range of methods that are valid and meaningful for planning and evaluation efforts.

Example: If a right is restricted, ABLED, Inc. should provide formal training and supports designed to enable the individual to acquire the necessary skills to decrease or eliminate the restriction.

The following examples provide a list of possible training subjects, should a restriction in community access be required.

Restriction	Reason	Possible Training Approach
Community/ Social Access	Lack of expressive communication and vulnerability	Sharing personal information Assertiveness training Travel/safety skills Communication Knowledge of rights Money management Recognition of abuse Reporting of abuse Recognition of danger Ability to secure belongings Methods for dealing with others
Community/ Social Access	Aggression	Laws and consequences Respect of others and property Social interaction skills Communication Relationships Problem solving Anger management Manages own routine

II. The Case Referral

A. Prior to the Referral

Implementation of any rights restriction enforced by ABLED, Inc. must be identified as such and the individual served must be accorded due process. Restrictions may include, but are not limited to, behavior modifying drugs, physical intervention and limited community access. Rights Review Committee is a part of the due process mechanism.

Prior to Rights Review Committee review, the Individual Support Plan (ISP) team must review the restriction. The ISP team must agree that:

1. Agency providing residential services is responsible for the referral.
2. All ABLED, Inc. (day and residential) programs providing supports will be notified and provide the required information/data for the referral.
3. There is a valid need for the restriction, i.e. it's necessary for the safety of the individual, others, and/or property.
4. Less restrictive alternatives to the restriction have been tried and documentation data is available to prove they have been ineffective.
5. For medications, there is data (not just staff opinion) to support the need for a behavior modifying medication being prescribed.
6. Invite the individual supported and/or guardian to the Rights Review Committee meeting.

B. Following the Referral:

1. There is a tracking system to identify the frequency of those behaviors that the restriction is intended to eliminate.
2. There is a positive teaching program with data collection to assist the individual in learning skills that will help to eventually lessen or eliminate the restriction.

C. Referral Rules

1. The need for Rights Review Committee review will be communicated to the designated representative of Rights Review Committee.
2. The case will be confidential. All committee members will have signed a confidentiality agreement prior to sitting on this committee.
3. The Functional Behavioral Assessment must be included with teaching strategies to address the issues or concerns.

4. All behavioral programs and targeted behaviors must be included in the packet with current data summarized monthly.
5. The safety plan must be included in the packet when there is a restriction other than medication in place.

D. Individuals New to Services

The following must occur when an individual is new to services and has a restriction:

1. The Rights Review Committee is notified that an individual has entered ABLED, Inc. who has restrictions with rationale and a brief history.
2. The Rights Review Committee will acknowledge.
3. Within the next 30 days of intake, an ISP meeting will be held and programs written and implemented.
4. The Committee reviews the programs and the referral.

E. Referral Presentation

All information is considered confidential. The Committee reviews the individual's history and pertinent issues. Additionally, Rights Review Committee looks for assurance that the ABLED knows the individual and any restrictions are proper. They analyze programmatic issues.

- The Committee discussion starts with a description of the individual, relevant medical appointments/diagnosis, any relevant history, behaviors, restrictions, and changes since last review.
- Analyzed discrepancies between staff saying the individual is doing well when the data says otherwise or vice versa.
- The discussion and documentation will be clear, concise, and honest without speculation.
- The Committee will review medications, diagnoses and behaviors to be tracked.
- Any unclear medical terms must be explained.
- The Committee must know what is being tracked - behaviors must be specific.
 - a. "Appropriate/inappropriate behavior" is a poor use of words, the committee needs specific descriptions of the behaviors.
 - b. "Follows request" is too vague unless the program design specifies the actual request and ties it to the specific situations.

Interim Medication Referral Instructions

Changes to existing psychotropic medications must be referred to Rights Review Committee when the change:

- Is an increase, or
- Introduces a new psychotropic

The interim medication referral form is to be completed and sent to a representative of the Rights Review Committee immediately following the change. The representative will provide temporary acknowledgment and will submit for full review at the next Rights Review Committee meeting.

When completing the Interim Medication Referral Form:

1. List in item #4 all the psychotropic medications, not just the ones changing.
2. Rights Review Committee must have a clear understanding of why changes occurred. Provide the written rationale in item #5. Attach supporting documentation, such as the physician contact form and the data/information provided to the doctor.
3. Psychotropic medication change requires individual/guardian approval and ISP team and Rights Review Committee notification. Make sure this is addressed in items 6, 7, 8, and 9.

Directing and Monitoring Restrictive Medication

Persons living with parents or other family members may be prescribed a psychotropic medication. The parents, guardians or caretakers may assume total responsibility for an individual's health and release ABLED, Inc. from responsibility for Doctors appointments, the administration of medication and the monitoring of the effectiveness of the medications.

When a medication is prescribed for the purpose of modifying the individual's behavior a report must be made to the Rights Review Committee. The "Rights Review Committee Notification of Medication Restriction when Someone Other than ABLED, Inc. is Directing and Monitoring Medication Administration" form is completed and submitted to the Rights Review Committee. A signed "Caretaker Responsibility for Medical Care" or "Individual Responsibility for Medical Care" form acknowledging that another person is accepting responsibility must be attached.

The report notifies the Rights Review Committee that someone's rights are being restricted, but that ABLED, Inc. is not responsible for that restriction. If an identified behavior occurs at an ABLED, Inc. facility, the entire form must be completed and submitted to Rights Review Committee.

Abuse and Neglect

All reports of abuse and neglect, including staff to individuals supported and between individuals supported, will be screened. Those cases viewed as valid will be forwarded to APS/CPS. In addition they will be reviewed by the Rights Review Committee.

General Event Reports will be used to report abuse and neglect. The GER's must have a statement of action taken or planned. These reports will be provided to the Rights Review Committee for their review. Review by the Rights Review Committee will be documented by name, date and Committee recommendation. This will be placed in the Rights Review Committee's general file.

Internal Investigations

For any investigations conducted by ABLED, Inc. personnel for allegations of abuse/neglect by staff toward individuals served, a report will be submitted to the Chief Executive Officer or designee that includes:

- The allegation
- Who was interviewed
- Responses
- Conclusion

The report will be submitted to the Rights Review Committee at the next meeting.

The Committee's decision regarding the report will be conveyed to:

1. The individual allegedly abused
2. Parent/Guardian, if applicable
3. DHHS Service Coordination
4. ABLED, Inc. Directors

Notification will occur no later than five days after the meeting.

ABLED, Inc. will follow the requirements/requests/guidelines of any external investigating agency so as not to jeopardize their investigation.

The Case Decision

Rights Review Committee will make a decision regarding the case during executive session at the meeting after hearing the presentation.

The Rights Review Committee review form will provide the written documentation of the Committee's decision and will be sent to the responsible ABLED, Inc. representative.

Generally speaking, there are three types of decisions Rights Review Committee makes:

1. Approval (possible Update)

This is full approval of the program submitted. This will be good for 1 year if the program does not become more restrictive in the future. The Rights

Review Committee may also give full approval, but ask for an update later on to monitor the case.

2. Provisional Approval/Return

This decision indicates Rights Review Committee is pretty comfortable with much of the plan, but concerns prohibit a full approval. Date for return will be established. When the return has been approved, that date will be used as the start of the 1 year time period.

3. Not Approved/Return

Significant problems exist with the referral. Recommendations will be made and a return date will be established. Total rewrite of the plan may be necessary. When returning, a full referral packet may be required.
