Loraine Pellegrino has been involved in Arizona politics for many years. Her affiliation with the Arizona Federation of Republican Women (AzFRW) began as a founding member of the Ahwatukee Republican Women's Club in Phoenix. Since being chartered in 2005, Loraine has served on the ARW executive board in a variety of offices including four years as President.

On the district level, Loraine is both an elected Precinct and State Committeeman. She has served in these positions for the past ten years and is honored to have been awarded "Most Valuable Precinct Committeeman" in 2010 and 2015 by the AZGOP.

Two highlights of Loraine's political career include being elected as a delegate to both the Arizona and National Republican Conventions in 2012.

Recruiting Republican women to run for office has always been a personal goal which was realized in 2014 when she served as the Campaign Manager for Arizona Representative Jill Norgaard.

In addition to completing her 2nd term as 1st Vice President for the AzFRW, Loraine is also on the AZGOP Executive Committee as an elected Member-at-Large.

Born and raised in Connecticut, Loraine has a B. S. degree in Media and Communications from Sacred Heart University. Following graduation, she pursued a career in the travel industry. During this time she met her husband Ed, whose career with Honeywell International afforded them with the opportunity to live abroad in Germany and Phoenix where they have resided for 19 years. They have been married nearly 32 years and have one son.
