

“Call To Me”

“It shall come to pass that before they call I will answer, and while they are still speaking I will hear” (Isaiah 65:24).

This is a promise for this end time hour, and we the offspring of the living God should reach out and grab it with both hands! Things may seem pretty bleak as you look around at your nation, your place of work or your family situation, but this promise is packed with dynamite!

As we believe and receive these words of the Lord, we step into a season of acceleration. God is promising that those who are in relationship with Him can call upon Him in the assurance that He hears and answers even as they have begun to speak, hallelujah!

“My precious child, I am calling you to higher ground today. I want you to take your eyes off the challenges confronting you and to set your eyes firmly on Me. The spirit of the world is telling you to close down, ship out and lock the doors, but the show is not over yet, My child. Stop listening to the world and tune your ears back to My voice. Fix your heart on My word. It is knowing Me and My nature that will give you the victory in this hour. My plans for you are always good, My heart is always full towards you. You will walk in the fulfillment of all the powerful potential I placed within you but only when you know who I am, and who you are in Me. This may have been a disappointing and difficult time for you dear one, but I am calling you to see this situation as the perfect opportunity for a miracle. Turn your heart completely to Me and trust Me. Everything is subject to change, and there is absolutely nothing impossible with Me. Call on Me. I have seen your need, I have seen your difficulty. Even as you form the words within your mouth I am moving, I am commissioning, I am calling angels into action, who will move you into your destiny. You have travailed and labored over many things but I am releasing a spirit of acceleration upon you, and you will see your prayers answered very differently. It is your season of overcoming and victory, your season of spiritual increase. It is going to be a rich time of answered prayers but you have to begin to call to Me.”

Many people never see the power of this promise because they may seek only human help, turning to the advice and direction of the world when they have challenges to overcome. Abba God has always promised to answer us when we call upon His name (Psalm 91:15) but when we choose to seek Him instead of the help of the world, He takes us to higher ground. He says “Call to Me and I will answer you, and show you great and mighty things which you do not know”. (Jeremiah 33:3).

When my son was young, we kept a monitor on in his room when he slept, and we would run to his side whenever we heard him stir or murmur, before he even cried! Such is the deep connection our Lord has to us, and His sensitivity to our heart’s call. He is tuned in to us even as we lift our eyes to Him and think of saying His name!

He knows our prayer before we have begun to utter it, but as we call, He begins to lift us up and change our perceptions and responses. He begins to help us to see through His eyes and from His heart, filling us with divine compassion and even changing how we pray. He begins to change situations and people. He shows us how to walk the path of victory - hallelujah!

Dear friend, however bad things may seem to be, the Holy Spirit is able to pour His divine life and presence into your situation right now. Just decide to believe Him today. Your situation may be very hard but choose to trust Him and let Him take you from where you are to where you want to be. He is setting you up for an amazing victory, as He says “Set your hope on Me. Call to Me!”
