About the 2014 Distinguished Law Firm Winners

Monica Hwang
Senior Associate, King & Spalding

Monica Hwang is a senior associate in the global transactions practice of King & Spalding. She is based in Houston.

She has advised clients on the development of North American and international LNG projects, including Freeport, Wheatstone and Mozambique LNG projects.

Before becoming a lawyer, Ms. Hwang worked in various sectors of the energy industry, including upstream production, gas processing and wholesale and retail energy trading. She has extensive experience in natural gas futures and financial derivatives as a risk manager and as a trading analyst on the trading floors of major energy companies.

Ms. Hwang is a member of the Houston Young Lawyers Association and the Asian American Bar Association of Houston. She received her J.D. degree from the University of Houston Law Center and a B.B.A. in Finance from the University of Texas at Austin. She is fluent in Mandarin Chinese.

The Distinguished Legal Writing Award is presented to Monica Hwang for her article Overview of issues common to structuring, negotiating and documenting LNG projects.

Lawrence A. Kogan
Managing Principal, The Kogan Group, P.C.

Lawrence A. Kogan is Managing Principal of The Kogan Law Group, P.C., a NYC-based law and consulting firm counseling clients on cross-border transactional, planning and policy matters, including the minimization of related legislative, regulatory, policy, and trade and investment risks. Mr. Kogan also serves as a Vice Chair of the Inter-Pacific Bar Association's International Trade Committee, and operates the NJ-based Institute for Trade, Standards and Sustainable Development (ITSSD), a nonprofit legal research and educational organization that informs the public on how sustainable development-focused environmental, health and safety, and intellectual property laws, regulations and technical standards curtail private property rights, business profitability, technological innovation and competitiveness. He previously served as General Counsel/COO of a textiles product-based import-export firm, an international tax consultant at KPMG and Deloitte, and as an Adjunct Professor of International Trade Law & Policy, at Seton Hall University. Mr. Kogan is a prolific published writer and international speaker.

The Distinguished Legal Writing Award is presented to Lawrence A. Kogan for his article Trade, the Precautionary Principle, and Post-Modern Regulatory Process.

About the 2014 Distinguished Law Firm Winners

Professor Lucas Bergkamp

Partner, Hunton & Williams LLP

Prof. Lucas Bergkamp is a partner in the international law firm of Hunton & Williams. Resident in Brussels, prof. Bergkamp heads Hunton's European regulatory practice. He specializes in EU law, administrative law, and the interfaces between science and the law. His practice focuses on environmental, health and safety issues, and related contract and trade matters. In addition to compliance and regulatory strategy, he handles policy work and dispute resolution.

Prof. Bergkamp holds a degree in medicine, as well as law and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Amsterdam and a Master of Laws from Yale Law School. A leading regulatory lawyer, thought leader and prolific author, Prof. Bergkamp has edited books on environmental liability and chemical regulation published by Oxford University Press. He was Professor of Law at the Erasmus University Rotterdam, Faculty of Law, for 10 years, and serves as the Director of The Conference Board's Council on the Environment and Product Stewardship.

The Distinguished Legal Writing Award is presented to Professor Lucas Bergkamp for his article Trade, the Precautionary Principle, and Post-Modern Regulatory Process.
