

CLEAR!!!!!!!

Rachael Martin 4,11,2017

I heard the Lord say “Clear!!” as if He needed everyone who was around to move back and quickly because He was about to PROPEL something or someone into readiness.

I’m writing today from a watchmen’s position. God is moving people, He’s shaking people, He’s stirring up things and wiping off dust – He’s breathing life into all sorts of things that have become slow and you would like to think they are going to die off from lack of attention or proper care – but God is saying:

“Move back, I’m about to cause a scene – I’m going to show up and see who is ready to listen and be ready to move. I need to know my people are attentive and accountable. I’m going through cities, schools, parks, even jailhouses and My Spirit is going to pour out, take heed and allow yourself to be available. You are going to find yourselves wanting to pull over for a minute, you are going to want to take another walk around the block, you are going to give an extra hug, or tell someone about My love, My Spirit has an affect that you can’t even fathom and you will find yourself wanting to step back and clear the way for He will command a place and time and He is no respecter of persons, as you make your way through the rest of this week, watch and listen and be prepared to move back and allow My presence to invade areas of weakness, areas of sickness, areas of stress, areas of unbelief, areas of turmoil, areas of divisiveness – allow Me to make a way – clear the room!! My Presence is what you need.”

Wow... thank You Lord – I pray that this word touches you today and that you are able to tune into the Lord God Almighty for what is next where you are. I’m excited to see what He wants to do with me and my family. God bless you all!!

© 2017 www.gatheringathisfeet.org
EMAIL: gina@gatheringathisfeet.org