Craig Scott White, 63, beloved friend, died July 28, 2004, in New York City, of heart failure. He was born on May 13, 1941 in Harbor Beach. Craig grew up in Harbor Beach and later moved to New York, where he spent the next 38 years of his life. Over the course of his career, Craig worked in sporting goods, the restaurant and bar business, and security. A tender man with a tough exterior, he had the extraordinary quality of being loved by almost everyone who met him, and will be remembered by many people whose lives were made brighter because of his own. Please honor his memory by being kind to animals. Craig, you left big boots. Craig was the son of the late Pauline (Scott) and Joseph F. White, of Harbor Beach, Hopewell, Virginia, and Muncie, Indiana. He was married and divorced once and had no children. He is survived by his sister and brother-in-law, Pamela and John Craddock, and their children, Scott and Cindy, of Muncie, Indiana. A Memorial Mass was said Monday, August 16, 2004, at St. Francis of Assisi Church, New York City.
