Next Program In Congregation B’nai Israel’s Faith Speaks Series Is Set For January 26

Today we truly live in a global village and interfaith dialogue is more important now than ever.

Our ability to communicate, empathize and understand across religious lines is vital to being able to continue to build bridges of peace. Faith Speaks, a B’nai Israel program (supported by a generous grant from the Jewish Council of North Central Florida) seeks to engage our community in this important dialogue.

Join us on January 26th at 7 p.m. as Rabbi David Kaiman will once again lead a discussion with two of Gainesville’s most prominent religious leaders. We will speak about faith in general and address the religious news of the day with a sense of openness and camaraderie.

Last month we were delighted to host Rabbi Mark Winer who is a recognized expert in interfaith dialogue. Rabbi Winer brought us his perspective on interfaith relations during his time as a rabbi in the UK and spoke of the possibilities and promise of global interfaith dialogue. In October we had a powerful sharing of religious journeys with Rev. Vince Amlin of United Church and Chaplain Deborah Hepburn of UFShands Healthcare.

Jewish Council Grant Adds Zumba To Friendship Circle Programming

Friendship Circle is a community program for active seniors that meets weekly at Congregation B’nai Israel. We know that the participants’ lives are enhanced by the variety of programs presented. Zumba is one of the programs we have included in the monthly schedule thanks to a generous grant from the Jewish Council of North Central Florida.

Participation in Zumba has proven to improve cognition, balance and flexibility. The program benefits the participant’s lifestyle by encouraging exercise while having fun in a social setting.

Quotes from our participants:

Florence “loves the rhythm and dancing. The music is great.”

Jill says the program “gets everyone involved.”

Emily thinks “exercise is a preventative to injuries in older people.”

Delores says “It’s wonderful. L’Tanya is a great instructor. She gets everyone moving.”

Come join the group on Wednesdays in the Congregation B’nai Israel social hall at 11:30 a.m. You will be glad you did!

Zumba instructor L’Tanya leads the active seniors of the Friendship Circle at Congregation B’nai Israel.

Material can be e-mailed in Word Document format to chronicle@jcncf.org, faxed (please don’t fax pictures) to (352) 379-5802 or dropped off at the Jewish Council of North Central Florida offices next door to Temple Shir Shalom. What is JCNCF? Where does your money go? The Jewish Council of North Central Florida is the umbrella organization for the Jewish communities of Gainesville, Ocala and surrounding areas and has several major activities and programs, including: Social Action Programs, Family & Children Social Programs, Local Grants to support the Gainesville community, the Chronicle, JCNCF Organized Events and Overseas Giving.

With your help, we support Jews in Israel and over 70 countries around the world. We appreciate your generosity and support for so many years and hope that we can count on your support again as we reach the midpoint of our 2014-2015 campaign. You can see in our campaign star that we have raised nearly $50,000 of our goal. We have a long way to go, but it's not too late to make your donation!

The funds you donate enable JCNCF to provide programs which knit together our Jewish Community.

What do we do?
Families and Children. We are excited to continue our family and children's programming which includes Shalom Baby Bags and the PJ Library Program. PJ Library supports families in their Jewish journey by sending Jewish-content books and music on a monthly basis to children in the community. We recently expanded the program to include children of ages six months to 8 years old.

We also plan Jewish content activities for the children.

Social Action and Tikun Olam (repairing the world) are a part of many of the JCNCF's events and programs. Mitzvah Day is our signature social action event and brings the Jewish community together for activities to benefit the greater Gainesville area. Last year, Mitzvah Day participants took part in various activities around Gainesville, including supporting Helping Hands, serving lunch to the homeless, making greeting cards for U.S. troops, outdoor cleanup activities and assisting at Reichert House. Bins are available throughout the year to collect donations, such as clothing, household goods and products, furniture and toys to distribute on Mitzvah Day.

The JCNCF provides financial grants to local synagogues and organizations, including Shir Shalom Religious School, Congregation B'nai Israel's Chavaya Program, B'nai Israel Community Day School, University of Florida Hillel and Center for Jewish Studies, so that they can create programs that benefit and engage the broader Jewish community. This year we also included a grant to an Alachua County Middle School to enhance their Holocaust Programming.

children images they might see online or on TV of catastrophe, disaster and the loss of life in our country and throughout the world. What must children know to become compassionate and kind without destroying their innocence?

Walls insulate, protect and safeguard said city from lurking danger and threat, but it also keeps the people locked in and shut off from the world.

If the walls were to be broken or breached, the enemy could wreak destruction or a natural disaster could harm the population. So, how do the inhabitants interact with the rest of the world? How do they protect themselves, yet open themselves up to intermingle with those beyond the walls. The solution of course is gates. Build a strong and secure wall, but put in gates that can be opened and closed to let people in or out, as needed and by the will of the people.

The Lubavitcher Rebbe of righteous memory expounds on the relevance of this idea to our lives. We must guard ourselves, our homes and our families by placing invisible walls to keep our values, standards, principles and ideals strong, secure and protective of our and our children’s safety, security and self-esteem, physically, emotionally and spiritually.

And yet we can’t be so insulated that we become selfish and uncaring of others and only worry about ourselves. Thus, we need gates, to open ourselves up to receive and learn, as well as to teach others, to give and be more compassionate people. And our children should be taught to do the same; safeguard their identity and morals, but be able to give and receive from others, as well.

Do children need to know details of tragedy? Definitely not. But, in my opinion they should be aware that there is suffering in the world and we need to do what we can, whether through acts of kindness, prayer, charity or something else to make the world a better place.

Our Rabbis teach us that the Third Temple will be rebuilt through random acts of good deeds and kindness. We all must do our part.

On behalf of my wife Chanie, our children, Mendel, Mushka, Rochel, Levi, Shmuely, Meir, Shternie and Boruch we share our very best wishes for an enjoyable winter.

Note: The articles written or published by the Lubavitch-Chabad Center are primarily based on Chassidic insights, discourses, letters and talks by the Lubavitch Rebbe of righteous memory. Periodically we present articles and thoughts from Chabad.org and its contributing writers. We thank Chabad.org and its contributing writers.
A Treat from Ya’akov “Yanky” Lemmer
By Howard Rothman, The Music Maven

Last April, About 250 Gainesvillians were treated to a wonderful concert of Ashkenazic and Sephardic music, cantorial and non-cantorial. One of the participants was Cantor Ya’akov “Yanky” Lemmer, a young man who, I believe, is already one of the great cantors of our age. I reported on his first CD in 2010 and I have been awaiting a second CD with eagerness.

This one is called It Is Shabbos. Currently, Cantor Lemmer is the chazzan at the Lincoln Square Synagogue in New York City.

Cantor Lemmer was born in Brooklyn and was exposed to cantorial music on the radio. He began singing at a Young Israel in Brooklyn and was a soloist in the choir while receiving training from Cantors Benzioni Miller and Azi Schwartz.

Due to his talent and skill, he was awarded a scholarship to the Belz School of Music at Yeshiva University where he studied under Cantors Joseph Malovany and Bernard Beer.

In addition to his degree as a cantor, Lemmer has a Master’s Degree in special education. He has sung all over the world and has sung, for the last three years, at the Chanukah celebration in Washington, D.C. with musical accompaniment provided by the U.S. Marine Band.

The current CD contains 11 songs, all associated with Shabbos. It begins with Mimkomcho, From Thy Place, which is recited during the repetition of the Shacharit Amida on Shabbos and Festivals. The melody is a combination of Modzitz and Carlebach. Next he sings Pierre Pinchik’s famous Rozo S’Shabbos, the Mystery of the Shabbos.

I usually don’t like anyone but Pinchik singing this but Lemmer is an exception. In Yismach Moshe, Moshe Rejoiced, his young son, Mendy, sings with him. In Ad Heino, Until Now, from the middle of the Shabbat morning prayer, Nishmat Kol Chai, The Soul of Every Living Being, he sings a duet with Cantor Simon Cohen, another outstanding young chazzan, and in Kehilos HaKodesh, The Holy Communities and Yedid Nefesh, Beloved of My Soul, he is accompanied by another young boy, Zrili Berger. It is said that the sweet sound of a youngster’s singing ascends directly to the Heavenly throne.

Not only does Yanky Lemmer possess a sweet tenor voice, he also possesses a sweet soul. He is an unprepossessing young man who infuses every word and every note with meaning.

He is certainly one of my favorite cantors and I look forward to many more CDs from him in the future. Rumor has it that he will be appearing this coming March 25 somewhere in Gainesville with the same group he appeared with last April.

The music for the CD is supplied by the S.F.Y. Orchestra and Choir conducted by Dr. Cantor Mordechai Sobol. Ofir Sobol, who is a technical engineering wizard, arranged some of the pieces and produced the album. The CD is available through mostlymusic.com. Enjoy!

Got Actors? Send Them To Broadway Right Here In Gainesville This Summer

It’s never to early to start planning for summer activities. And if you are looking for something for your aspiring actor, good news.

Broadway is coming to Gainesville in the form of an intensive, week-long camp at the Phillips Center on the UF campus.

Camp Broadway LLC, a New York-based youth entertainment company, and Keith Watson Productions, Gainesville’s premiere event producer, announce that Camp Broadway® will return to Gainesville for its 3rd annual engagement on Monday, July 27 through Friday, July 31 for one session only at the Curtis M. Phillips Center for the Performing Arts at the University of Florida.

Camp Broadway enables theater-loving kids, ages 10-17, to develop their confidence, character and presentation skills through ensemble performance in a safe, supportive and professional environment. Young performers will enjoy 40 hours of classes in singing, dancing and acting in preparation for the annual Family Finale that will be held at the beautiful Phillips Center's Squitieri Studio Theatre.

“We are proud to be working with Camp Broadway again next summer to present Broadway's original summer camp in Gainesville,” says Keith Watson, President of Keith Watson Productions. “There is a growing number of talented young performers in our area who want to learn about Broadway from experienced Broadway professionals. Camp Broadway delivers a program that is rigorous enough for kids to be successful in honing their performance skills balanced with enough fun that kids have a happy and memorable experience.”

“It's a pleasure collaborating with Keith Watson and his team on the development of a plan that will enable Camp Broadway to offer new programs in Gainesville,” says Melissa Caolo, Executive Director of Camp Broadway LLC. Our two companies look forward to presenting a variety of theater arts programs and events throughout the next year for theater enthusiasts of all ages.”

In addition to instruction in musical theater performance, children attending Camp Broadway next summer will receive official t-shirts, healthy lunches, snacks and more.

The Gainesville Jewish Kids Club

An education and enrichment program where learning is fun!

The Jewish Kids Club offers children the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of Judaism while surrounded by their peers, in a stimulatcommunication in the Jewish Community. The Chronicle highlights the activities of JCNCF as well as all the other Jewish organizations. JCNCF also sends out a weekly email newsletter to provide a community update and central calendar.

JCNCF organized events include the Annual Campaign, Community Hanukkah party and other holiday celebrations, annual programs commemorating Holocaust Remembrance Day and Israeli Independence Day and a series of Israel and Jewish themed speakers, programs and events throughout the year.

Overseas allocations are made to the Jaffa Institute in Israel and the Jewish Federations of North America.

The Institute for the Advancement of Education in Jaffa ("The Jaffa Institute") was established in 1982 as a private, non-profit, multi-service social agency to assist severely disadvantaged children and their families, providing over 35 educational and social support programs.

The Jewish Federations of North America distribute the allocated funds principally to the Jewish Agency for Israel (JAFI) and the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC). This funding enables our local community to be part of the worldwide community supporting the people of Israel and those in need around the world.

As the world’s major Jewish partnership organization, JAFI funds programs that support the rescue of Jews in distress, immigration to Israel and initial absorption; Jewish Zionist education and identity; and the global Jewish community.

For more than 90 years, the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee has embodied the principle that all Jews are responsible for one another. Operating in 70 countries, JDC rescues Jews in danger, provides relief for Jews in need, rebuilds Jewish communities and helps Israel address the social challenges of its most vulnerable groups.

Thank you for joining us in our mission for caring for people in need and nurturing and sustaining a Jewish identity for all.

Our desire is to secure a Jewish future for our children and the entire Jewish family.
