Vantiv customers should have already received an email from Trustwave, which includes a self-assessment. If you have not yet received the email, make sure to check the junk mail folder. The assessment is required to ensure your business is PCI compliant. Companies that are not in compliance may be subject to additional fees from credit card processors. We are here to help you through this process and we added a Trustwave Merchant User Guide to help you navigate your way through the Trustwave survey.
