

Josh Niven

Buchanan, Michigan

Josh Niven is a professional ice sculptor and all-around ice man from southwest Michigan, supplying the area with all it's ice needs. After getting his start in the culinary industry as a pastry chef in South Bend Indiana, He found ice carving at his local culinary school Ivy Tech Community College. Starting in 2010 he went out to participate in local ice festivals and competitions as well as the World Ice Art Championships in Fairbanks Alaska. Beyond ice carving Josh enjoys being with family, wood working, and getting lost floating in a kayak.

