PROGRAM | IDLP

Leadership Development with a Dedicated Interprofessional Focus

November 29 – December 1, 2017

AAMC Learning Center, Washington, DC

Fact Sheet

What:

The IPEC Interprofessional Deans Leadership Program (IPEC IDLP) is a three-day, interactive professional development experience customized to the needs of senior academic leaders. The IPEC IDLP is distinguished by an emphasis on leading in an interprofessional environment. The interactive program is facilitated by faculty from the Academy for Academic Leadership, an organization with extensive experience in health professions education, as well as other national and internationally recognized leaders.

Who Should Attend:

Deans and other senior academic administrators with three or fewer years of experience from IPEC member associations' schools. Interprofessional teams of senior academic leaders from the same institution are welcome to apply. Please see the qualifications for applications to determine your eligibility.

When:

November 29 – December 1, 2017. The selection process will take place in mid-August with participant notification beginning in early September.

Where:

Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) Learning Center
655 K Street NW
Washington, DC, 20001-2399

Why:

- Professional and Personal Development: The IPEC IDLP provides professional enrichment activities and opportunities for participants to become better leaders of their staffs, faculties, and students, and more effective managers of their institutions.
- Interprofessionalism: The curriculum is designed to provide participants with an interprofessional orientation to their leadership through discussions and case studies demonstrating the power of collaborative approaches for addressing problems common to leaders across different academic professions.
- Support: The IPEC IDLP will create a network of colleagues who can assist one another after the program concludes through peer coaching and mentoring.

Tuition:

$3,600, which includes all program materials, meals, and three nights lodging at the Grand Hyatt Washington located at 1000 H Street, NW, Washington, DC.

To Apply:

Submit applications by visiting www.ipeccollaborative.org or www.AALgroup.org. Information also will be distributed through each of the twenty IPEC member associations.

The inaugural program will be limited to 45 participants from schools affiliated with IPEC member associations. The selection process will begin in mid-August.

About the Interprofessional Education Collaborative:

IPEC's mission is to ensure that new and current health professionals are proficient in the competencies essential for patient-centered, community and population oriented, interprofessional, collaborative practice. Eligible institutional members must be associations that represent and serve academic units at institutions of higher education that provide an educational program leading to the award of one or more academic degrees to students in one or more of the health professions that provide direct care to patients. For more information about IPEC, visit www.ipeccollaborative.org.

About the IPEC Faculty Development Institutes:

The Interprofessional Education Collaborative (IPEC) hosts two team-based faculty development institutes a year (spring and fall) for teams to identify an institutionally based project and develop an implementation plan to embed interprofessional education (IPE) within their health professions schools. The IPEC Institutes provide health professions faculty and their IPE colleagues both quality time and dedicated space for guided learning, team-based planning activities, and consultation with experts and peers in order to emerge with a programmatic action plan for IPE. To learn more about IPEC's faculty development institutes, visit www.ipeccollaborative.org.
