

I've Always Been a Dreamer

I've always been a dreamer
You've always been a saint
You in my world
Is what color is to paint

What sunlight is to darkness
What hope is to despair
What water is to rain
What diamonds are to rare

You always left me breathless
And yet as time goes by
Your eyes still amaze me
And your laughter gets me high

This world isn't always easy
But, I've seldom heard complaint
I've always been a dreamer
You've always been a saint

I wish we could live forever
Then our love would never die
Shining on in splendor
Like the stars up in the sky

I've always been a dreamer
You've always been a saint
You give without taking
You love with no restraint

What sunlight is to darkness
What hope is to despair
What water is to rain
What diamonds are to rare

This world isn't always easy
Heaven, it surely ain't
But I've always been a dreamer
And you've always been a saint
