Gospel: Lk 1: 39-56 “Great things done for us – Assumption of Mary”

The image of Mary greeting Elizabeth is filled with meaning for us as the church celebrates the Assumption of Mary. So it is quite interesting that our reflections today turn to Mary’s “Magnificat.” Mary’s rejoices in the saving work of God, “scattering the proud...casting down the mighty from their thrones....” On the surface, it is the meeting of two cousins - just a friendly visit. But these two women have been favored by the Lord and filled with unexpected new life. It is the child in Elizabeth’s womb who leaps at the approach of Mary carrying her hidden treasure.

We should try to be more fully aware of the many ways that God continues to visit us, to touch us with a burning love, to announce good news to us. He comes in unexpected disguises, in strange circumstances, using unusual people and places. So often we do not recognize His visitation, His coming into our lives. We see only the surface, the obvious. And we miss the opportunity to leap for joy at the nearness of our God.

The Assumption is a feast when we celebrate the gift of life - the life given to us by God, the life of God in us, and the way to be strong disciples of Jesus by following the example of Mary, the Mother of God. We see in her a model for our faith. We too give birth to Christ in our world. We are reminded that though Christ suffered, he has been kept safe by God to whom he has returned, and will come to bring us all to that place of protection and life.

Now, indeed, have salvation and power come. With Mary we too proclaim and rejoice in the greatness of the Lord.
