

Bowhunter IQ Test

What items should be considered essential for survival overnight if lost in the woods?

- A. Three cans of beer and a pack of smokes.
- B. Eight cans of beer and a small Television.
- C. Sixteen cans of beer and a bottle of aspirin.

How do you know when you have enough archery and hunting equipment?

- A. If the local archery shop calls you to see if you have it in stock.
- B. You can no longer park your cars in the garage.
- C. You don't.... period.

Which statement best defines the term "bowhunting"?

- A. Climbing up a tree in the middle of nowhere to get bit by mosquitoes.
- B. Going to all the local archery shops looking for a new bow.
- C. Shooting at a 3-D tournament.

If you run into Fred Bear in the woods you should...

- A. Not have eaten those mushrooms you picked the day before.
- B. Ask him for a discount on a new bow.
- C. Run like hell, its not Fred Bear, its Fred the bear and he looks really pissed.

If you run into Ted Nuegent in the woods you should...

- A. Run like crazy, even if he doesn't look upset.
- B. Challenge him to a shoot-off.
- C. Ask him to adopt you so you always have a good place to hunt.
- D. Tell him your an anti-hunter and see if he beats you up.

Math Section

If you duct tape two 150 yard rangefinders end for end what is the new maximum yardage?

- A. What's the difference, I can't hit anything past 15 yards anyway.
- B. Zero, I taped one of them backwards.

If you buy 10 bowhunting items, how many days does it take to sneak them in the house if you sneak 2 in a day?

- A. Wait, let me go get my calculator.
- B. How did you know I did that?
- C. 5 yards.

Answer Key: Whatever you want it to be.