

Langhorne Council for the Arts

Dear Friends of the Arts,

Langhorne Council for the Arts has had a busy year so far, and it's not over yet. As you'll see, we've been all over the map!

- In January, we introduced a Winter Series of concerts at the Richardson House on the first Fridays of January through April.
- In March, we celebrated Women's History Month with an actress portraying Emily Roebling, who supervised the building of the Brooklyn Bridge, at Middletown Friends Meetinghouse.
- In April, we created and posted a self-guided tour of murals in Lower Bucks (did you know there are nearly 30 of them?!).
- In May, we awarded scholarships to Neshaminy middle and high school music students.
- In June, we held our first Arts at the Farm event at Langhorne Heritage Farm, complete with 30 dogs showing off their abstract painting chops.
- In June through August, we enjoyed five diverse presentations at our 12th annual Summer Speakers Series at the Anna Mary Williamson Library/Museum.
- In June through September, we hosted four amazing musical performances at First Fridays in Hulmeville at Johnson Hall Coffeehouse.

And, coming up on October 5 (rain date Oct 6) from noon-5 PM, LCA will host our 3rd Annual PORCH FEST in Langhorne Borough! Six porches, more than a dozen bands playing funk, jazz, folk, and everything in-between; it's a great family-friendly event. So mark your calendar, alert your friends, and bring your lawn chairs. The event map and other details will be posted on www.LanghorneArts.org as the date approaches.

For over thirty years, LCA has made our community a vibrant place to live and visit, but we can't do it alone. If you are already a member of LCA, please renew today. If you haven't yet joined LCA, please do! This year there are two ways to join: (1) mail your check with the enclosed form, or (2) join online. Either way, 100% of your dues and donations go directly to LCA. You have the option to select, designate, or opt out of a fee to the online platform, if you decide to join online. Our membership year runs from September 1, 2024 to August 31, 2025.

Thank you for supporting the arts in our community!
