

EXPAREL®

Postsurgical Pain Management

Introduction

EXPAREL is indicated for single-dose infiltration in patients aged 6 years and older to reduce postsurgical pain (regional analgesia) lasting for a duration of ≥ 3 days.

- EXPAREL is given by injection during surgery as part of an opioid-minimizing approach and controls pain for the first few days after surgery when you need it most.
- EXPAREL works by numbing the area of your body where your surgery was performed, unlike opioids, which affect your whole body.
- Your doctor can extend pain relief by several more days with a booster injection of EXPAREL (administered in the office) two to three days after surgery.

Side effects can occur with any medication. Patients in clinical trials who received EXPAREL were 2 to 10% more likely to experience nausea, vomiting, fever, and constipation. Please consult with your pharmacist about the possible side effects of EXPAREL.

Handle With Care

EXPAREL must be refrigerated as soon as possible. Never put EXPAREL in the freezer. If possible, travel with your EXPAREL in an insulated bag along with an ice pack. EXPAREL is most effective when kept cold.

Cost

EXPAREL can cost from as low as $80 to as high as $450 per vial. Most pharmacies do not carry EXPAREL and will not order it. Some insurance plans may pay for EXPAREL purchased at a pharmacy, but most will not.
