Student learning is more effective, and overall scores increase in more interactive settings.