

Ron Dufault's Slide Show

01 of 07

Original studio/transmitter building with the AFVN Radio 900 sign. I took this picture when I first arrived at the Dong Ba Thin site in 1968.

Ron Dufault's Slide Show

02 of 07

Another photo of the studio/transmitter building
taken from our living quarters - 1968.

Ron Dufault's Slide Show

03 of 07

Another photo of the studio/transmitter building
taken from our living quarters 1968.

Ron Dufault's Slide Show

04 of 07

This was they day of the pouring of the concrete for the base and floor of the new AM studio. In the photo is USAF SSgt Ed Hemnes and myself - 1968

Another photo of the pouring of the concrete. The outfit doing the concrete work was from Cam Rahn Bay. The 555th. Red Horse Squadron. This company was inactivated in December 1969.

This was the cement mixer from the 555th Red Horse. They were a great help to us.

This photo was taken of the nearly completed outside of the building in late 1968 early 1969. There was still all the wiring and inside finishing to be done. The wiring and all the electronics was done by Sp5 Bob Mottaz and 1Lt Bill Bozarth.

The End